SIR A. CURRIE SLOWLY GAINS SAY DOCTORS

Improvement in Condition of Former Victorian Noted in Montreal Hospital

BUILDING UP AS HE RESTS IN BED

Message From Ex-Army Head to Be Read to University Veterans in Toronto

Canadian Press
Montreal, Nov. 9.—Further improvement in the condition of Gen. Sir Arthur Currie was noted to-day by the attending physicians. Sir Arthur, principal of McGill University, is suffering from blockage of a small blood vessel in the brain which does not, however, affect the higher faculties.

"The improvement in Sir Arthur Currie's condition slowly continues," said a bulletin issued by the doctors. "Sir Arthur had a good night."

MESSAGE TO BE READ
Toronto, Nov. 9.—Despite the serious illness of Sir Arthur Currie, which will prevent his attending the reunion dinner of university veterans to be held here Saturday, the message of the man who commanded the Canadian army in France during the Great War, will be delivered.

Sir Arthur had already prepared a message of far-reaching interest to the Canadian public. Through Col. Wilfred Dwyer, the noted leader said he felt the present time was propitious for organizing the university men who served in the Great War with a view to directing public opinion and in an effort to re-establish confidence in the future.

LEADERSHIP NEEDED
In a recent letter Sir Arthur said: "I have long felt the surviving officers of the war have not given that leadership to the returned soldiers and returned soldier organizations which is to be expected of them, and I suppose it would be fair to say the majority of university men who served in the corps were to be found in the officer class."

"I am of the opinion the best of the returned soldiers feel the lack of this leadership and are hungering for it." The university veterans have as their purpose: "Through the leadership of university men who served in the Great War, and the links of friendship forged in the strong fires of those days, to recapture some portion of the high idealism, the spirit of sacrifice, then displayed and to direct it into useful channels."

An earlier Montreal dispatch than that above said hope was expressed by McGill University officials that Sir Arthur Currie's robust constitution would help him to withstand the effects of his illness.

An official statement issued at the university said: "A great number of telephone inquiries are being received from all over the country, and once again the regard and affection in which Sir Arthur Currie is held by all Canadians, especially those who served under him, have been made manifest."

"Arrangements are being made for his speech in Toronto on Armistice night to be read. His last task before his illness had been to complete this address."

Report and Recommendations of Macmillan Commission Which Investigated Banking in Canada Will Be Made Public By Ottawa Government

The people of Victoria will learn from The Times next Monday afternoon what changes in the banking system of Canada are proposed, according to news received from Ottawa to-day. The report of the commission which investigated the present system has been awaited with great interest because of the revision of Bank Act to be made at the session of Parliament which will start in January next.

The following Canadian Press dispatch tells how the report will be given to the public: Ottawa, Nov. 9.—Report of the Royal Commission on banking and currency will be made public next Monday, it was learned to-day. The document will be placed in the hands of the newspapers in time for publication Monday morning, government officials announced.

Under the chairmanship of Baron Macmillan, noted British jurist, the commission spent a month touring Canada, hearing evidence, and completed its report two weeks later. While no official information has yet been made available, the report, it is understood, recommends Canada follow the example of other countries similarly situated and set up a central bank, which would be a creation of the government but independent in its handling of currency and credit matters.

Election Got Quick Relief

Harold E. Winch, C.C.F. Member, Who Did Not Have Street Car Fare Before Election, Can Have Motor Car, Gas and Credits Now

"It's wonderful what a difference three letters (M.P.P.) make after your name," declared Harold E. Winch, member-elect for Vancouver East, in speaking before a C.C.F. meeting at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday evening.

"As many of you doubtless know I have been out of work for two years and on direct relief for some time. I have experienced difficulty sometimes in getting my relief. Last Friday morning, the day after the election, I went down to apply for my relief and I never got anything in my life so quick."

Mr. Winch, who has just passed his twenty-sixth birthday, will be the youngest member of the Eighteenth Legislature. If he feels in need of advice as he sits in the House he can go to his father, E. E. Winch, who is member-elect for Burnaby. He has been editor of The B.C. Clarion, C.C.F. organ in Vancouver, for some time.

Other experiences that he had had since being elected were related by Mr. Winch. "Before the election," he said, "I could not even raise the price of a street car fare. Now I have a car and gasoline as my disposal if I want to use it."

CAFES IN U.S. SELLING WHISKY

Restaurants in Washington State and California Start Serving Drinks to Patrons

Stores in California Sell Alcoholic Beverages While Repeal Proclamation-Awaited

Associated Press
Seattle, Nov. 9.—Many restaurants were reported serving hard liquor here to-day, not waiting for the formal repeal of prohibition. Most of it sold for 25 cents a glass.

IN CALIFORNIA
San Francisco, Nov. 9.—Wines, liquors and mixed drinks were sold in hotels, restaurants, groceries and drug stores here to-day with little regard for the fact that formal repeal of prohibition had not been proclaimed.

Pending the legal expiration of the Eighteenth Amendment California will have no enforcement laws except local regulations. A state liquor commission will take things in hand when the Twenty-first Amendment becomes effective. Most liquor being sold here is classed as "medicinal" with stores obtaining the prescriptions for the customers.

KENTUCKY VOTE
Louisville, Ky., Nov. 9.—Repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment by December 5 was virtually assured to-day. Repeal was leading by 21,372 votes in Kentucky when the Blue Grass state started its second day of ballot tabulation.

The vote in 874 precincts out of 4,204 gave repeal 74,171 votes to 52,892 against.

Kentucky's repeal convention is set for November 27.

The weekly cost of living for a family of five in British Columbia was $17.96 in September, according to a survey of comparative costs in selected cities of the province, made by the Department of Labor under Hon. W. M. Dennis.

James Beynon Found Guilty of Striking Chief At Eviction

Sentence Reserved By Magistrate in First of Five Cases Arising From Clash on Caledonia Avenue Two Weeks Ago

Defence Claims "Police Brutally Attacked Workers": Admit Attempt to Prevent Eviction

James Beynon, one of five men arrested in the clash between police and unemployed at an eviction on Caledonia Avenue on October 27, was convicted in the City Police Court this morning of assaulting Chief of Police Thomas Healey in the execution of his duty. Magistrate George Jay reserved sentence.

The hearing occupied three hours. The courtroom was crowded.

The four other cases are proceeding this afternoon. William Bragg is charged with assaulting Constable David Donaldson, and Hans Kroger, Eric Linden and Fred McGee are charged with obstructing police.

Beynon was not defended by counsel, conducting his own examination of witnesses. He did not go on the stand himself. C. L. Harrison was prosecutor. Details of the clash in front of the house at 1136 Caledonia Avenue were unfolded by witnesses for both sides, police witnesses claiming that they were obstructed by a group of about thirty unemployed men helping the sheriff's men to enter the place, and defence witnesses alleging that the police "brutally attacked the workers."

Sheriff H. W. Goggin testified first as to the eviction order and of his request to Chief Healey for aid after his men had been stopped.

Chief Healey said he had gone to the house with the sheriff and Constable (Turn to Page 2, Col. 6)

TERRORISM IN SAAR ALLEGED

Paris, Nov. 9.—Charges Germany "is seeking to get the Saar district without a plebiscite and to terrorize inhabitants" were made to-day by Deputy Montillot during a debate on foreign affairs in the Chamber of Deputies. He demanded an increased police force to be placed at the disposal of the Saar government.

PEARSON FOR MINES-LABOR

Nanaimo Member Prominent in Last Legislature to Take Important Portfolios

Represents Mining Constituency; Understands Workman's Point of View

George S. Pearson, prominent business man of Nanaimo and member-elect in the Provincial Legislature for Alberni-Nanaimo, will be the Minister of Mines and Labor in the Pattullo cabinet, which will be sworn in next Wednesday. Mr. Pearson came down from Nanaimo to-day and lunched with Premier-elect Pattullo.

Mr. Pearson who was elected to sit for the first time in the B.C. Legislature for Nanaimo at the 1928 election repeated his success on November 2, when in the combined constituency of Nanaimo-Alberni he headed the poll with a big majority, defeating some of the strongest representatives of other parties in the field.

His first session in the Legislature immediately stamped him as one of the outstanding men in the party. He showed deep sympathy with and thorough knowledge of the workingman's viewpoint, and his impressive address in the Legislature showed he had given a lifetime of study to the subject of bringing about the best conditions possible for the wage-earner through systematic planning of a policy in co-operation with workers and heads of industry, to ensure consistent employment. His well-reasoned proposal for an economic council to bring about this condition, which he presented at the first session of the Legislature, has been incorporated in the Liberal Party platform.

Mr. Pearson also showed himself to be a capable financial critic by his analysis of budgets, public accounts and estimates. He undertook his duties as a member of the Legislature with a full realization of his responsibilities and has never spared himself in becoming conversant with the problems of the province in general and their relationship to Dominion and world economic conditions.

As member for a mining constituency his speeches have frequently shown that he has studied mining from every angle—from the miner's point of view, the owners, the demand and marketing of the product and every phase which has a bearing on the industry in British Columbia.

In private life Mr. Pearson is a wholesale merchant, and he holds the respect and esteem of all the citizens of Nanaimo.

Bridge Builders At Vancouver Strike

Work on First Pier of Second Narrows Structure Tied Up When Submarine Workers Quit

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 9.—A strike of the divers and submarine workers at the Second Narrows Bridge here, which started at midnight, tied up all work on the first pier, though the union leaders have not yet called off the engineers.

The strike is to enforce demands for increased wages and a change in conditions. Union representatives state the work is very dangerous, and that already a couple of dozen men have been dispatched to hospitals, suffering from the pressure changes. The Foundation Company Limited, contractors, reports the caisson is now sunk practically as deep as was intended, and may be filled in as it now stands, without need for any more submarine work.

WANT $15 A DAY
The men, who have been receiving $9 a day for the work under the surface, are demanding $15 for an eight-hour day, with proportionate increases for shift bosses and lock tenders. They also ask the company provide rubber boots for the workmen, as has been a practice here, they say, for many years. On the present job the men must provide their own boots. Eighty-five men are involved in the strike.

In London U.S. Dollar Goes Down to $5.05 3-4 to Pound Sterling, Lowest Point Reached Since 1914

Chamberlain Says Pound "Independent"

Canadian Press and Associated Press
New York, Nov. 9.—Steady rise of the pound sterling, the French gold franc and other continental European currencies in relation to the United States dollar continued unabated to-day on the foreign exchange market here. The Canadian dollar was firm, but its advance was less pronounced.

Sterling finished at $5.13, compared with Wednesday's close of $4.97½. It opened at $5.01½ and mounted steadily as French funds were transferred to London co-incident with a flight of capital from the United States to the world's monetary centre. The Canadian dollar sold at a premium of 1½ of one per cent in final dealings. Dominion funds closed at par yesterday, but selling by speculators, who it is thought had been holding Canadian dollars until they should reach par, probably accounted for the more stable trend of this unit.

The French gold franc jumped to 6.33½ cents in late transactions, an advance of 15½ points over the previous finish.

IN LONDON
London, Nov. 9.—The United States dollar fell to a low record of $5.05¾ to the pound sterling in late dealings after the foreign exchange market had closed to-day.

Subjected to selling pressure influenced by President Roosevelt's gold policy, it slumped to-day during market hours to close at $5.02½, to the pound sterling, from a low of $5.01½. Then, in dealings after the market closed, it slid to another record low of $5.05¾.

PRESSURE TOO STRONG
To-day was the first time since the Great War the sterling rate had gone above $5 to the pound. There had been some idea when the old parity rate of $4.86½ was reached there would be a psychological halt, but pressure of the United States policy has been too strong.

Sterling also strengthened on the French franc, which depreciated to $16.48 after opening at $16.45. The day's available gold, £400,000, was priced 11 pence cheaper than yesterday on the lower franc.

GOLD PRICE UP
Washington, Nov. 9.—A price of $33.15 per ounce for United States Corporation purchases of newly mined domestic gold was set to-day, an increase of 15 cents.

NEW HEAD URGED FOR LONDON POLICE

Canadian Press
London, Nov. 9.—Three members of the Labor party will move a motion in the Commons that Lord Trenchard be relieved of his post as chief commissioner of the Metropolitan Police "in the interests of efficiency, the civilian character of the Metropolitan Police Force and the maintenance of good relations between the force and the general public." The three are A. Bevan, F. Cocks and W. G. Cope.

Marshall of the Royal Air Force Baron Trenchard has been police commissioner since 1931.

Heated Debate On Admission of Cults Into B.C. Hospitals

Dr. A. K. Haywood's Resolution to Bar Chiropractors From Hospitals, Stirs Convention

Several Speakers Want Subject Left Alone For Present; Dr. H. E. Young Speaks

The calm of the conference of the B.C. Hospitals' Association this morning was broken when Dr. A. K. Haywood, Vancouver, moved a resolution that the convention recommend to the boards of directors of hospitals that they refuse to admit chiropractic and similar cults to practice.

The question, "What are the best means of controlling professional work in a hospital?" stirred the interest of the delegates and made things interesting thereafter.

"I don't see why we should be involved in a question of this kind, particularly at this juncture," said J. H. McVety, Vancouver, secretary of the association, jumping to his feet at the chairman's table. He said it was pretty well recognized that cults were not recognized, but he added it was well to remember that in the session of the last Legislature only two votes prevented the chiropractors from being legally recognized in British Columbia.

New Legislation On Liquor In U.S. Soon

Arrangements Will Be Made to Protect Non-repeat States From Running of Liquor

By Cecil B. Dickson, Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Nov. 9.—President Roosevelt is turning his attention to the liquor traffic problem now that thirty-seven states—one more than the necessary three-fourths—have voted to take the Eighteenth Amendment from the constitution.

A programme of tax legislation to be submitted to Congress along with repeal of the Volstead Act to permit sale of distillates in the District of Columbia and the territories will be considered at a meeting of departmental representatives Friday.

This programme includes plans to keep airtight states that did not vote to ratify repeal, and may revive the sending of the much-feared pre-prohibition revenue agents into moonshine areas.

Objectives of the programme are temperance and methods of dispensing alcoholic drinks without return of the old-time saloon. In addition, steps are to be taken through the coastguard to prevent smuggling of foreign liquor across the Eastern and Southern coasts.

The House Ways and Means Committee will open hearings on liquor taxation legislation November 27. The present tax is $1.10 a gallon on whiskey, and brandies. It has been predicted this will be increased to as high as $3 a gallon.

With Kentucky, as partial returns indicate, listed as the thirty-seventh state to vote ratification in Tuesday's elections along with Ohio, Pennsylvania and Utah, actual repeal will come December 5, date of the ratifying convention in the thirty-sixth state. North and South Carolina refused to vote ratification.

STATE FARMER CREDITS SCORED

Montreal, Nov. 9.—Members of the Union Catholique des Cultivateurs to-day had before them a condemnation of state agricultural credit as economically unsound by Hon. Adolphe Godbout, Quebec Minister of Agriculture.

Everywhere he could investigate agricultural credit had proved to be a failure, he said. In Quebec, the farmers should establish personal cooperative banks run by themselves and thus put the money of the farming community behind them.

A few hours before his speech the Union had adopted a resolution in favor of state farm credit in Quebec.

Children Blamed For Baby's Death

Toronto, Nov. 9.—Responsibility for the death of eighteen-month-old Bunty Butler had been placed to-day on "a child or children of irresponsible years" by a coroner's jury. The infant's body was found two weeks ago on a city dump after an all-night search. The jury found death occurred October 25 from exposure; that the clothing was removed from the child, her clothing put into a basket and the nude body placed under a nearby bush while a discarded automobile door was placed "upon the body, thereby causing her death by exposure."

LABOR WINS IN EDMONTON

D. K. Knott Re-elected Mayor; Four Labor Council Members

Edmonton, Nov. 9.—Labor forces swept into power here in the municipal election. Riding the crest of a victorious wave, Mayor D. K. Knott yesterday was re-elected for the third year in succession. He was the nominee of the Canadian Labor Party.

Four Canadian Labor Party aldermanic candidates, Rice Sheppard, Miss Margaret Crang, H. D. Ainlay and J. W. Findlay, were elected. All are former aldermen, with the exception of Miss Crang, who made her first appearance in a civic election. The fifth alderman is R. M. Bellamy.

Mayor Knott polled a vote of 13,543, thus gaining a majority of 5,796 over J. A. Clarke, Independent Labor candidate, and swamping J. A. Leonard, Independent, with 620 votes.

RELIEF FUND SHOWING GAINS

Improvement in Finances of Scheme in Britain Reported to Commons

London, Nov. 9.—Considerable improvement in the finances of the unemployment relief fund was reported yesterday by R. S. Hudson, Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Labor. Answering questions in the House, he said that during the current financial year the fund had accumulated a surplus on account of insurance of no less than £5,250,000.

That amount would be more than sufficient to meet winter contingencies and would also enable further repayment of the debt of £110,000,000 incurred by the fund since the numbers of unemployed began to grow abnormal and the "dole" was necessitated. Already £210,000 had been applied to the debt, and a further £1,450,000 was set aside this week.

The "dole" is that portion of relief disbursements not covered by contributions under the national unemployment insurance plan.

Stratford Strikers Return to Work

Stratford, Ont., Nov. 9.—Nearly 100 employees of the Kroehler Manufacturing Company, on strike here for almost two months, returned to work to-day. Stratford's furniture strike is now definitely ended. The Kroehler plant was the last of six factories to resume operations.

Differences between the firm and its employees were ironed out yesterday and an agreement signed by the company and the shop committee, which represents the men.

Upper Stewiacke, N.S., Nov. 9 (Canadian Press).—William Dick, seventy-six, wrinkled Indian who regarded himself as "the last of the Mohicans," died yesterday. Several ethnologists agree the musical speech of the Mohicans has ceased to be a living language. It never was written. Dick was said to be the last Mohican who spoke the old language of the tribe.

TWO WOMEN DROWNED
Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 9 (Canadian Press).—Straying from a country road in a snowstorm, two women walked into the Stewiacke River yesterday evening and were drowned. The body of Mrs. John Reynolds, fifty-five, was recovered, but that of her companion, Miss Tilly Rogers, twenty-eight, was missing.

NEW PENSIONS APPEAL JUDGE

HAIR CUT WINS IN COURT TEST

Mr. Justice McDonald Orders Barbers' Board to Give Saanich Man Certificate

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 9.—A test haircut won John G. Buehler, sixty-five-year-old barber of Gorge Road West, Saanich, his appeal in the B.C. Supreme Court here yesterday, and with it a barber's certificate.

Buehler was appealing from the board of examiners in barbering which had refused to issue the certificate. By direction of Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald, Buehler demonstrated his hair-cutting ability on William Chamberlain Turner in a neighboring barber shop.

Returning to court, the three examiners reiterated their opinion Buehler had not passed the test, but the judge, after viewing Turner's head, said that speaking for himself, he was quite satisfied with the haircut, and after expressing the opinion the examiners had been too meticulous, ordered the board to issue the certificate.

Referring to the Barbers' Act, the judge said it was rather advanced legislation and he thought the Legislature had provided an appeal to a judge, thinking the latter would take an impartial view.

He also said that in October last the board had passed only sixteen of fifty-three candidates for certificates, and while he was imputing no improper motives, he said there was the temptation to feel the 1,600 certified barbers in British Columbia, as stated during the hearing, were enough.

Following a similar case heard by Judge Ellis in 1929, the judge allowed Buehler $75 costs.

TEN JAPANESE ARE SENTENCED

Terms For Those Convicted of Terroristic Acts Lighter Than Expected

Associated Press
Yokohama, Japan, Nov. 9.—Ten more men were sentenced to-day in the slaying of Premier Suoyoshi Inukai and other acts of terrorism. Eleven cadets already had been given four years each by the Tokyo district court. Trial of twenty civilians is still in progress.

All were accused of participating in a plot of terrorism directed against what many Japanese considered a tool of foreign policy. Assassination of the Premier, May 15, 1932, came at a time when he was being made the butt of widespread criticism.

Of the ten sentenced to-day, six who participated in the Inukai assassination must serve from ten to fifteen years each. Four others were given suspended sentences.

Indicative of the popular support mustered on the defendants' behalf, more than 1,000,000 petitions—more than 1,000 written in blood—had been showered on the court urging leniency. The sentences were far lighter than the prosecutor had demanded.

HOHENZOLLERN NOW HAILS NAZIS

Potsdam, Nov. 9.—Germany lost the war, Friedrich Wilhelm Hohenzollern asserted to-day, because she declined to curb drastically the Marxist-international poisoning of the people. Writing in the Lokal Anzeiger, the Ex-Crown Prince reviewed what he termed Germany's fateful "November days" of the last twenty-five years.

He described how in November, 1918, the old Reich political leaders yielded finally and broke down under pressure of revolutionary elements which aimed to overthrow the constitutional monarchy. Hailing the Nazi regime, he declared: "The Third Reich is standing firmly on the new foundations."

A. WALLINDER DIES IN SEATTLE

Request Made For Stay of Execution

Edmonton, Nov. 9.—Application is being made for a further stay of execution of the death sentence passed on William McLean, twenty-one, and his father, Kenneth, forty, guilty of the murder of Walter J. Paralle, Mannville, Alta., farmer.

The two were originally sentenced to be hanged October 6, but two stays of execution have been granted. Friday, November 10, was the day last set for the double hanging.

VANCOUVER CANDIDATE

Vancouver, Nov. 9 (Canadian Press).—Thomas Wilkinson, former Regina alderman, has entered the Vancouver civic field and is considered a probable aldermanic candidate in Ward twelve at the civic election here December 13.

Mr. Wilkinson has addressed ratepayers' meeting urging development of a civic hydro-electric scheme. There will be no election for mayor this year and only six aldermanic posts will be decided by the electors.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 9 (Associated Press).—Joseph C. O'Mahoney, First Assistant Postmaster-General, will be appointed to succeed the late Senator John B. Kendrick of Wyoming. Governor Leslie A. Miller made the announcement yesterday.

TAX HEARING

Vancouver, Nov. 9 (Canadian Press).—Monday next was fixed yesterday by Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald for hearing in the B.C. Supreme Court of an application by the Pioneer Gold Mines of B.C. Ltd. to mandamus Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, to compel him to comply with section 5 of the Income Tax Act.

REGINA MAY HAVE SHORTAGE OF MILK

Canadian Press
Regina, Nov. 9.—Possibility of a serious milk shortage in Regina was yesterday in evidence given here yesterday before the Royal Commission investigating the milk trade.

Dr. William Allen of the University of Saskatchewan said a milk shortage was more than a possibility.

"It would appear," said Dr. Allen, "producers will not be able to continue to feed their herds under the present price structure."

Producers declared they were operating at a loss. The price agreed between what they received and what the consumers paid was so great many herds had already been turned out to forage for themselves.

FARM STRIKERS BURN BRIDGE

Sioux City, Iowa, Nov. 9.—Further destruction of property was reported in the farm strike to-day.

Another railroad bridge—third since the "war" for higher prices started—was destroyed by fire. The bridge, property of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific, was situated a mile south of Portsmouth.

Pigs continued to move to market, however, as farm strike pickets abandoned the highways.

NOVA SCOTIA TO HAVE GOLD BOARD

Kentville, N.S., Nov. 9.—Control of Nova Scotia's gold mining industry will be vested shortly in a new branch of the Department of Mines. Hon. Michael Dwyer, Minister of Mines, said at the annual convention of the Maritime Board of Trade: "This province has the same chance of developing a successful gold industry as had Ontario."

MANY JOBLESS GO TO ALBERTA

Calgary, Nov. 9.—Single men from all parts of Canada are coming to Alberta because of relief camp opportunities, according to the Alberta Government's employment bureau. Single jobless figures were increased by 980 last week. Calgary and Edmonton are bearing the brunt of the influx. About 9,628 men are in the province looking for jobs.

ONTARIO TAVERN SYSTEM DEBATED

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—A tavern system similar to that of Quebec may be considered along with other proposals in connection with the Ontario government's beer and wine policy. Premier George S. Henry is intimating here yesterday.

He said the election result in British Columbia had not affected him in any degree. "There has been a party row in British Columbia for twenty years," said the Premier.

METAL CONTROL PEACE AGENCY

Edmonton, Nov. 9.—Canada can play a great part in world peace by joining in an international plan for control of minerals required for armament manufacture, according to Dr. Alfred Zimmerman of London, England, noted authority on international affairs, who addressed the Edmonton Canadian Club yesterday.

Declaring Germany was preparing for another war, Dr. Zimmerman said Canada, as the world's largest producer of nickel, used largely in making armaments, could strike at the root of Germany's schemes by a plan for controlling such exports. Such an agreement, he said, might be made at the Disarmament Conference.

Manitoba Audience Hears Woodsworth

Morden, Man., Nov. 9.—No one believed now it was the German Kaiser who caused the Great War. The struggle for world markets was responsible, J. S. Woodsworth, M.P., national chairman of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, told a farmer audience here yesterday evening.

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett could not be blamed for the depression, said Mr. Woodsworth. The trouble was due to the present "system," which the C.C.F. proposed to correct. Mr. Bennett, he declared, had found he could not "blast his way" into world markets. He had found every nation looking for markets to-day.

KING OPENS BIG LIBRARY

London, Nov. 9.—A new home for 1,000,000 books was inaugurated by the King Wednesday when, accompanied by Queen Mary, he opened the new buildings of the National Central Library at Bloomsbury.

Started modestly in 1916 the library serves as a central depot and clearing house for public libraries throughout the United Kingdom, by loaning to them works necessary for special study which by their rarity or the small demand for them would not otherwise be available. The new building, costing $250,000, was presented by the Carnegie Foundation.

"By your system of loans between libraries," His Majesty said, "You have made provision for study and research which would scarcely be possible in any local library. These buildings in this respect constitute a national university which all may attend."

"This country owes much to the late Andrew Carnegie and the generous policy of his trustees, especially for their help in developing the public library service."

HE BROUGHT IT ON HIMSELF

Before the Eastern Ontario Liberal-Conservative Association yesterday, Premier Bennett delivered one of his characteristic speeches which told the public little more than that he was annoyed because the leader of the opposition in the House of Commons will persist in alluding to the government's shortcomings, which the Prime Minister does not think are shortcomings at all. Is it not possible, however, that Mr. Bennett's broadside at the Liberals was intended for the people of Canada who are failing to appreciate what Providence has done for them in making him Prime Minister?

There will be no disposition to challenge Mr. Bennett's statement that his government took office at a time when the country was faced with tremendous problems and at the beginning of a record-breaking world depression. But Mr. Bennett confined a great deal of his election campaign in the summer of 1930 to the discussion of these problems, and one of the most solemn promises he made to the electorate then was that if he were elected, he would end unemployment or perish in the attempt. His solution of that problem—then a comparatively simple one compared with what it has developed into after three years of Mr. Bennett's administration—would be found, he confidently declared, in an increase in the country's tariff protection. He has followed this policy.

In his speech yesterday, the Prime Minister referred with obvious pride to the fact that an adverse balance of trade of approximately $100,000,000 when his government took office had been turned into a favorable balance of $120,000,000 as at the end of August this year. The official figures issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show a margin in the Dominion's favor of a little less than $105,000,000. But what Mr. Bennett evidently did not explain to the members of the Eastern Ontario Liberal-Conservative Association was that when Canada's trade with the rest of the world showed a debit balance of about $100,000,000 our total import and export trade was worth approximately $2,400,000,000. Because of this very large turnover, of course, unemployment conditions were, relatively speaking, not especially serious. There were something like 150,000 idle persons.

When we come down to the trade for the twelve months ending last August, to which Mr. Bennett refers, we find that the $105,000,000 favorable balance was produced from a total import and export business worth $876,100,000, or $1,342,000,000 less than it was when $100,000,000 appeared on the debit side. As our external business has declined to about one-third of what it was three years ago, therefore, so has the number of the country's unemployed more than trebled itself. But are we to assume from the Prime Minister's reference to trade that he would prefer a favorable balance of $105,000,000 in a total turnover of $876,000,000 to an unfavorable balance of $100,000,000 in a total turnover of $2,400,000,000? If he does, he is assuredly the lone disciple of an entirely new system of economic reasoning.

The Times always has argued that it would be unfair to attribute to Mr. Bennett and his colleagues in the government all the responsibility for the present condition of affairs in Canada. But the government has pursued policies which have made this condition a very great deal worse than it need have been. The Prime Minister announced at the outset that he was going to blast his way into the markets of the world. The unemployed workers of the country may retort that the reverse process has been going on.

AN AWAKENING

There seems to be a growing volume of public opinion in Great Britain which is definitely opposed to any further British commitments to continental powers. Various influential newspapers, and particularly the popular press, are being deluged with communications telling Britain to get out of Continental Europe and stay out, that if various powers on the other side of the North Sea want to fight, let them fight it out without British interference or help of any kind.

Here is one of the more moderate kind of letters: You have several times usefully called attention to our commitments under the Locarno Treaty. Now one of your correspondents calmly asks what those commitments are?

We are to go to the assistance of any signatory of the Treaty unjustly attacked by another. With what are we to assist the prospective victim? We've no big continental army. We've an inadequate air force. The day of the big battleship is over.

Is it not therefore rash to promise to take part in another continental conflict?

This one is decidedly outspoken and differs little in its direct tone from many others:

I notice that other newspapers are beginning to follow the lead of The Daily Mirror in calling the attention of the public to the peril of the Locarno Treaty.

The nation has never been consulted about it. That is the scandal.

I should like to be allowed to tell Mr. Baldwin that the nation will refuse to go to war to "help" any continental power.

We have had enough of that!

"One Who Remembers" signs the following letter:

Whatever may happen in Europe, of one thing I am convinced.

This is that our country will never again allow itself to be dragged into a war to "help" another country.

We get small thanks when we do that sort of thing!

Here is another which reflects the writer's view of what "the continent" should be told to do:

What a wonderful opportunity has arisen for alarmists to cackle "war" again! Who says any country wants war? It is those who talk and predict it who should be promptly "bumped off."

There are always many who secretly desire conflict for their own personal gain, and it appears to me, this time, only necessary to guard our own country.

Let the continent stew in its own "joke."

Here is one from "An Indignant Elector": Mr. Baldwin's references to Locarno and to the "sanctity" of our signature is really monstrous!

Has he consulted the democracy? Were we asked to "sign" as a nation? Is it not incredible that these politicians of ours should pledge our young men's lives for a "sacred" contract few of them know anything about?

A good deal of attention has been drawn in British by-election campaigns to the various obligations to which Britain has committed herself, more particularly under the Locarno pacts. In some quarters friendly to the government "more Ottawa and less Geneva" has been the cry.

Article 4 of the Locarno Treaty commits Great Britain to support Germany if she is unjustly attacked by France and Belgium. It commits Britain to support France or Belgium if either is attacked by Germany. It is the realization by the public of these commitments which has thrust Britain's foreign policy into the forefront in recent by-elections—and the government has lost thousands of votes.

AN OPTIMISTIC MINISTER

Hon. Howard McConnell, K.C., Provincial Treasurer and Minister of Municipal Affairs in the Conservative government of Premier Anderson in Saskatchewan, now a visitor in Victoria, says his colleagues in that administration attach no significance to the result of last week's provincial election in this province. He predicts, moreover, that when Mr. Anderson seeks endorsement at the polls next summer he will be re-elected.

It is refreshing to discover an optimistic member of a Conservative government which has been in office more than four years, and proposes to run to the full limit of its time, predicting victory after that government gives an account of its stewardship to the people. Mr. McConnell, of course, may have better ground for his opinion than the trend of political events throughout Canada would seem to indicate. But we have our doubts.

Only a few weeks ago the people of Nova Scotia spoke with no uncertain voice. Premier Harrington's Conservative government was completely snowed under by the Liberal forces led by Mr. Angus L. Macdonald. There followed three important by-elections in the federal field, one in New Brunswick, one in Quebec, and the other in Mr. McConnell's own province of Saskatchewan. Striking Liberal gains were recorded in New Brunswick and Saskatchewan, while the Liberal held the Quebec seat. British Columbia has just registered another Liberal landslide.

The standing of parties in the Saskatchewan Legislature at the end of last year showed twenty-four Conservatives, five Progressives, six Independents—these three parties form the Co-operative government—while there were twenty-seven Liberals in opposition, with one vacant seat. The Liberal following, therefore, is the largest unit; it is hardly likely to be less after next year's contest.

RELIGIOUS TOLERANCE

During the next three months a Protestant minister, a Catholic priest, and a Jewish rabbi will tour the United States together, to preside in thirty-seven cities at interdenominational discussions of religious tolerance.

Nothing has happened on this continent recently to indicate that any revival of religious intolerance is to be feared. But it has had a fearful flare-up across the ocean, and of all menaces to the peace of mankind it is one of the most contagious.

This tour can be looked on as a kind of vaccination, and it can be made an exceedingly valuable thing. Full religious tolerance is one of those blessings whose true worth usually is not appreciated until they disappear. It is a comparatively new thing in the world. Its roots have not sunk as deeply into the substratum of civilized society as might be wished. If it is to be preserved, we must be eternally vigilant.

We need to realize, too, that it is one of the essential ingredients in the democracy which we cherish. Democracy is more than just the abolition of autocratic government. In its broad sense, it is a scheme of society under which each individual is permitted to live his own life as he sees fit.

He not only has his vote, and his free and unchallenged choice of occupation; he has the right to worship as he pleases, and to do so without suffering the slightest discrimination, in any form, because of it.

Any infringement on this right is a denial of the very essence of democracy. A democracy must have full religious tolerance, because of the simple fact that the moment it ceases to do so it ceases to be a democracy. All Canadians who think their democracy worth preserving automatically must be defenders of religious tolerance.

All this is worth repeating these days, even though there is no sign that a revival of intolerance threatens us.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE BORROWING GOVERNMENT
La Tribune, Sherbrooke

Since the advent of Mr. Bennett to power the Ottawa Government has multiplied its loans. Canadian savings have been solicited beyond all measure, and the country has gone ever deeper into debt. Will it ever get out, and if so, how?

MORE BARRIERS
The Baltimore Sun

One of the disquieting signs of the times in Washington is the report that the Recovery Administration is being stoutly urged to invoke the provisions of the Recovery Act under which the President is empowered to restrict or even to forbid imports that seem to be interfering with the progress of recovery. Such a move would represent a further step toward the complete economic isolation toward which we have already made preliminary advances with our new codes, and our new currency policy. It is a step the administration may well approach with extreme reluctance, for by taking it we would at once interfere with the success of the new policy of reciprocal trade agreements the State Department, inspired by the President himself, is seeking to work out with our South American neighbors.

Loose Ends

Excellent progress is made towards achieving a united front before the enemy—every man is willing to sacrifice his neighbor with true fortitude—the chickens come across the boundary to roost—and a Great Name is attached to a cheese soufflé.

By H. B. W.

PROGRESS

ACCORDING to a special and more than usually reliable dispatch this column, the Independent candidates in Victoria are making progress towards a united front in the election of November 27. The following may be regarded as a pipe-dream report of what should have happened at the secret caucus of this group here a few evenings ago, and its accuracy therefore is not guaranteed.

As Mr. Joe North explained in opening the caucus, it is essential that the Independents should combine on four candidates, the others dropping out. No one would object to dropping out, he felt, for this was a time when the choice of the other three besides himself was a matter of indifference to him.

Colonel Goodland agreed with these sentiments and thought they were very loyal and British. As a King's man, however, he felt he would be running from the enemy if he were to retire now, and the King's men simply couldn't do that. For others who weren't King's men it might be all right. But for a King's man—well, it wasn't done.

Mr. Pat Sinnott said he could understand the Colonel's diffidence, for if the King were to hear of one of his men retiring from an election in Victoria, no doubt it would pain him greatly. But possibly if the King could be advised of the details of the election here, he might give his consent.

As for Mr. Sinnott, he felt he had worked so hard in the Conservative Party organization for years that he should be allowed to carry to a conclusion his moral right against political organizations. But he could see no reason why everybody else shouldn't retire from the field.

Mr. Crowther agreed with the sentiments of the last speaker, but observed that experience was essential in politics; and as he had once run for the Saanich Council, he felt, much against his own inclinations, that he must offer himself at the poll.

NOBLE OFFER

IT OCCURRED to Mr. Hayward that the Independents might have a better chance if, instead of a ticket of four, they combined on one candidate and plumped for him on election day. He said there should be no difficulty in selecting the one candidate, and, to avoid embarrassment, he would leave this decision to the election managers.

Mr. Anscomb said he appreciated this offer to himself, but really he could not accept it. It would be quite all right with him if three others were appointed to run with him.

Dr. Clem Davies pointed out with regret that, while others undoubtedly should retire, he was constitutionally unable to do so. He explained that he ran automatically at all elections and simply couldn't stop himself.

"I know the feeling exactly," said Mr. North.

SPECIMENS

MESSERS. CASSIDY AND MORESBY, while urging a united front at all costs, explained that, though they would prefer to do so, they could not retire because they were the only Conservatives left in British Columbia. Just for old-time's sake, they must try to keep alive a fragment of memory of the past. The electors, they felt, would like to retain a Conservative or two in the Legislature as valuable specimens of an extinct species.

The museum, thought Mr. North, would be a more appropriate and comfortable repository for such exhibits. But he repeated that the other three candidates on the ticket were immaterial to him.

Mr. Bishop pointed out that he had always been a Liberal and had devoted years of useful service to the Liberal Party. He could not see, therefore, how he could fail to be elected when the sentiment of the country was evidently Liberal. No real Liberal would hold his recent tiff with the party against him.

But Mr. Williams said he did not retire, since he would be the only advocate of the Seymour Narrows Bridge in the new Legislature. Apparently no party had a plank in its platform about the bridge, and if he weren't elected, it might be forgotten altogether. Everyone shuddered at this prospect.

In the end it was decided to take a secret ballot to frame a ticket of four from the eighteen Independents. But when the ballots were counted, it was discovered that there was one vote for each of the eighteen. The meeting then adjourned.

BACK TO ROOST

THE MOUNTED POLICE are having a hard time these days to stop a vast flow of illegal liquor from the United States into this country, and Canadians, I gather, are growing indignant at this unneighborly activity on the international boundary. Never have chickens come home to roost with a surer sense of direction. For years Canada smuggled Niagara's liquor into the United States. Many men grew rich at it, politicians in the "protection" and "assurance" paid to safeguard this excellent business. The tide is just rolling northward now, and it will have to continue for years before it begins to equal the southward tide.

More amusing still, when the United States gets its legal drinks shortly, it is going to demonize our whole system of government-by-liquor. When liquor is priced reasonably down there, our governments here won't be able to sell bottles as if they were diamonds. Our governments will have to meet the competition of American liquor. No longer will the alcoholic weakness of the population be used to finance education, mothers' pensions and other cultural necessities. The lush days are almost over. Soon we shall have to pay for these things instead of letting a few patriotic gushers drink us back to prosperity.

SILLY

AS I MAY have observed before, and probably shall again, there has been nothing in history so easy to kid as this age of cynicism and sophistication. Imagining that it disbelieves everything, this age will believe anything so long as you wrap it up in the right style of colloquialism. The best way to put over a silly idea is to attach a Great Name to it. With a Great Name, the worst kind of bilge becomes Gospel among the hardest-boiled.

I have before me, which inspires these impassioned utterances, a superb example. It is a copy of Liberty with a page which is contributed weekly by one of President Roosevelt's daughters—a highly dignified page, coming from the daughter of the President, all about how to make cheese soufflé and bring up children.

Altogether it is a page of the worst and dullest and silliest and most sloppily-written I have ever seen.

If the office boy in Liberty's office had turned it in, he would be fired. If any competent reporter had written it, the editor would send the poor fellow to a hospital to rest up from brain fog. I should have to reproduce the whole page here to show you how exasperatingly idiotic and cheap it is, and I can't afford the space. It contains, among other things, these great thoughts: (1) That children should be taught music; (2) that families should stick together; (3) that the President and his family live in the White House; (4) that cheese soufflé should be made with cheese; (5) that parents should be careful how they bring up their families.

Really, it is startling. And because it is signed by Anna Roosevelt Dall, with a nice picture of her in the White House, it is American Literature. Millions read it and weep, simply because it is attached to a Great Name. As soon as Mr. Roosevelt moves out of the White House it will cease to be literature. It will cease to appear at all. Meanwhile a Great Name seems rather out of place in a cheese soufflé and a page of boloney. The President should spank his daughter and put her to bed.

NOTICE!

The Times urges its correspondents to restrict their contributions to 400 words.

It positively will not print lengthy communications.

These letters must be plainly written on one side of the paper, only, and must be accompanied by the names and addresses of the writers, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

Letters will not be re-written for publication. If they are not legible no attempt will be made to read them.

Letters not used will not be returned to the writers.

SCOUTS' CHRISTMAS TOY SHOP

To the Editor:—May I again through your columns make an appeal for old or new toys for the Scouts' Christmas Toy Shop.

The object of this Toy Shop is to see that every child in Victoria and vicinity gets toys of some sort at Christmas. Last year Scouts of this district collected, repaired and painted over six thousand toys and distributed them to approximately a thousand children. This year, owing to the times which we are living, the demand will be greater than ever, so if anyone reading this appeal has any old toys, dolls, books, games, etc., would they put them on one side for the Toy Shop.

We hope within the next week to get the use of a store to which toys may be brought and where they will be repaired. Notice of the location of the store will appear in the press.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELS

O PARADISE, the road to you must look like the broad pathway of the moon to night,
Where light streams downward like a silver brook!

The air is all throbb with argent light,
And broad, white clouds like stepping-stones arise
Along the steep of heaven's boundless height.

What lovelier vision could the mind devise
To fit the fables of primed man Than that your path lies there, O Paradise?

Because this life is but a little span,
We seek the lure of some eternal place,
Towards which is wending all earth's caravan.
But, ah! to-night, clasped close in love's embrace,
And with this mollen silver in the air,
Beneath the willow's faintly wind-stirred grace,
What heart could ask for any realm more fair?
What feet could wish to climb the moon's white stair?

Hope Offered By System of State Health Insurance

Whole Question of Hospital Grants Referred By Convention to Resolutions Committee

Proposal Made That Government Be Asked to Increase Grant From 70 Cents to $1.25

State health insurance looms as a possible solution of the hospitals financing problems. Adoption of this type of health insurance, asserted speakers at the B.C. Hospitals' Association yesterday afternoon, would for all time settle the difficult question of hospital administration, and would assist in placing the institutions upon a sound business basis.

Other speakers, however, offered another viewpoint in suggesting a system of voluntary contributions under which a per capita amount was guaranteed, and which system, it was claimed, had worked out very successfully in small industrial communities.
After vigorous discussions, which occupied the greater part of the afternoon session, the whole question of hospital financing, viewed from the light of government grants and other hospitalization schemes, was turned over to the resolutions committee.

The hospital financing question was precipitated by Charles F. McHardy, president of the Kootenay Lake General Hospital, who moved "that this convention consider the question of hospital finance in its various phases."

BROUGHT RESULTS
J. H. McVey said that the government grant system might not be the best system, but it brought results. The government had doubtless done what it thought right in cutting the grant. Expenditures, no doubt, had to be brought to conform more closely with receipts.
But the fact should not be overlooked, he said, that the hospitals had been forced to make economies through falling revenues. The action of the government, however, had caused the hospitals to diligently search for more savings in their system, and in that sense some good may have been accomplished.

In warning to his subject, Mr. Mc-Vey went on to explain that the Provincial Government had $400,000 which it never had before owing to the fact that the Privy Council had ruled that the fuel oil tax was intra vires. The hospitals' meal tax was in the same category and the same result might be expected as in the fuel oil case. He did not believe they would acquire $300,000 from that source. In the province of Quebec there was a population of 2,000,000 with ten times the tourist traffic that British Columbia had, and meals costing over 35 cents were taxed, whereas in this province 30 cent meals had been taxed, and in order to beat the tax meals had been sold in the restaurants at 49 cents.

HOPE ON HORIZON

"I am not over optimistic about getting money for hospitals from that source," declared Mr. McVey forcefully.
"All ministers in the past who have held the portfolio of Provincial Secretary have been favorable to the hospitals, and I am looking forward confidently to the new government restoring the grant. I am looking forward with hope and enthusiasm, not because it will solve all our problems, but because it will relieve the pinch."

"If we continue to push forward economically the horizon bears some signs of hope for the future," Mr. McVey hinted that state health insurance would eventually come into force.

GOOD TOURIST COUNTRY

Dr. Malcolm T. MacEachern observed that British Columbia was considered to be just as big a tourist country as Quebec, and he did not see why the tax would not go over here as well as there. "The meal tax is looked upon as an imposition in Quebec," said Mr.
McVey. He said he had heard of people identified with the hospital movement who had walked three blocks in order to buy a 49-cent meal. If that were true, what could be expected of the public?

E. W. Neel, president of the King's Daughters' Hospital, Duncan, explained that by the system of contract patients they were able to get by with the reduced government grant. "We budgeted on the basis of not getting any money from the meal tax," he said.
Mr. Neel said he believed the best way to finance hospitals was by voluntary insurance, but not state insurance, it would be a difficult matter to make people keep up the premiums.
The question of the unemployed was also to be considered. He thought the solution of the hospital problem would be found along the lines of voluntary health insurance.

VOLUNTARY SCHEME

J. C. Nicholls, member of the board of directors of the Nanaimo hospital, was the champion of the voluntary scheme for hospitals. The plan had worked most effectively in Nanaimo, he said. The membership had been built up from 180 to 450 and a fund amounting to $2,000 was available to be drawn upon.

"I think this system were more widely in operation," said Mr. Nicholls, "the problems of the hospitals would more quickly disappear."

Mr. Nicholls was supported on the Nanaimo delegation by Mrs. Josephine Kneen, president of the women's auxiliary.
Elder John Gabriel, Vancouver, also participated in the discussion.

Dr. G. Harvey Agnew stated that a similar scheme had been introduced in Texas some five years ago, and it had been in force in Nova Scotia about thirty years ago. It was started by school teachers in Texas, who paid 50 per month for hospitalization. Ultimately, however, it had been necessary to raise the fee to 80 per month. In answer to a question by Mrs. Watt, Kelowna, Dr. Agnew said the 41 per day fee for hospitalization had worked out very well, but the plan placed the cost largely upon the property owner.

He also spoke of a plan considered by the Edmonton hospital council whereby anyone within the municipality would be admitted for 75 cents per day, but they would receive the government grant also under this scheme. The plan had been agreed upon, but was not in force yet.

DIRECT TAX

Dr. A. E. Haywood expressed the opinion that the province would ultimately have a direct tax for hospitals, similar to the Jones 1 per cent tax.
W. H. Boothroy, of the West Coast Hospital, Alberni, said his institution had 1,400 paid up members at 75 cents a month. The hospital may have been in the hole at one time, but it was now on the right side of the ledger. Five lumber mills and the logging outfits were contributing, and the plan had worked out satisfactorily so far. The men were satisfied and did not even notice the money deducted from their pay cheques. Hospitalization, he said, was limited to a period of three months.

Schemes of this kind were in existence in the smaller industrial towns, said Dr. Lamb, but the difficulty was found in places which did not rely upon industry.
Mr. McVey recalled that a medical association providing hospitalization for its members had been in existence for thirty-five years on the railways, with the men themselves running the organization. The men saw to it that there were no abuses to any degree.
Other well-known companies, it was stated, sponsored similar medical aid schemes. "I don't see why such a scheme cannot be enlarged to benefit a wider field."

NOT PRACTICAL

E. S. Withers, Royal Columbian Hospital, New Westminster, believed the voluntary contribution schemes had merit, but they were not practical universally. The only solution, in his opinion, was to get down to a system of state health insurance. The system had been successfully worked out in Great Britain, and it could be worked out here, but not in a day.
"We should make application to the government for the restoration of the grant and also ask that early attention be given to the establishment of state health insurance," said Mr.

COSTS PARED IN SAANICH

Council Will Finish Within
$1,000 of Relief and Road Appropriation

Municipal Fathers Told Expenditures Just Over $55,- 000 Budget Allowance

By effecting consistent reductions in all departments and by practicing steady economy, the Saanich Council is expected to wind up its fiscal year within $1,000 of its budget appropriation for relief and road work. It was announced at a meeting yesterday evening when a statement of expenditures in the wards was submitted. The council has efficiently managed to pare down expenses, despite reduced government grants, in several departments and the addition of heavy financial burdens.

The appropriation for relief and road work was about $55,000, $30,000 of which was set aside for relief. Throughout the year the councillors have been called upon to exercise every precaution to keep their expenditures within the year's budget in these two departments, would be nearly balanced.
The statement of ward work, for the year up to October 31, included a total of $21,474.93 paid by the municipality.
The amounts spent in the various wards follows: Ward One, $2,852.94;
Ward Two, $2,675.27; Ward Three, $2,
104.86; Ward Four, $4,330.86; Ward
Five, $3,194.78; Ward Six, $2,338.20;
Ward Seven, $3,642.67, and parks

SUGGEST AID TO HOSPITAL

Saanich Council Favors Substantial Appropriation For Jubilee Next Year

Indication that Saanich will make an earnest effort next year to assist the financing of the Jubilee Hospital was given by Reeve William Crough at a meeting of the council yesterday evening.

The reeve informed the council the directors had approached him with a request for aid from his municipality.
They had suggested that a delegation of their members interview the council, but had been advised this would have little result as the council was absolutely unable to pay.

"We should, however, make some effort to pay next year," said the Reeve.
"Saanich owes the hospital a large amount which runs into thousands of dollars, and I would like to see the 1934 council make an appropriation of $2,000 or $3,000 in its next year's budget for the hospital. This work must be continued and we cannot let the city pay everything."

The members of the council were generally sympathetic and agreed some action should be taken next year, although they could do nothing to bind next year's body in any manner.

Is Mr. Hinchliffe Friend Or Foe?

Saanich Trustees Undecided Whether Minister Should Be Thanked For Work.

The Saanich School Board yesterday evening was divided in its opinion as to whether or not Hon.
Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, had been its friend or not during the Conservative regime of the last five years. When requested to extend its thanks to the minister, the board deferred, but did order a letter forwarded expressing appreciation for cooperation, and in the same minute sent a request to the new Liberal government for restoration of the old scale of school grants.

"Our good friend the Minister of Education is about through; he has been good to Saanich, and I think we ought to express our thanks to him," said Trustee Frank V. Hobbs, who was sitting as a member of the finance committee.

"He cut us $18,000 in grants, I don't think that politician's friendship," interjected Chairman Walter P. Jones.
"You are going to ask the new government to give you something the old government wouldn't give you, and in the same breath you back up the old government," noted Trustee W. W.
Duncan.

The board, however, mutually agreed to express its thanks for co-operation.
A resolution was also passed requesting the Liberals to restore the old scale of school grants to municipalities.

Withers, it was his view that the commission which had been appointed to go into the matter would urge the establishment of state health insurance and he thought the hospitals should give their support.

In the matter of the restoration of the grant, he would suggest that it be made retrospective to April last. He believed the only real solution of the hospital problem lay in the establishment of state health insurance. He urged the convention not to be governed by party schemes, but to get down to sound business.

On a vote being taken the convention referred the whole matter to the resolutions committee.
Mr. McHardy moved that the government be asked to increase the grant from seventy cents to $1.25 per day, but he could find no second to his motion, and the matter stepped into the breach, when it carried.

The remark was made by A. P.
Glenn, Ladysmith, that the Union of B.C. Municipalities would not be very happy about it. President Coody observed that with a former secretary of the Union of B.C. Municipalities suggesting the grant be raised to $1.25,
the situation was very encouraging.

EXHIBITS OF MUCH INTEREST

Advances Made in Surgical Instruments and Dressings Shown at Convention

Delegates to the British Columbia hospitals' convention and visitors are displaying much interest in the exhibits which are being displayed in the conference chamber.
One of the outstanding exhibits is that of the Tranquille Tubercular Sanatorium in which large illuminated plates indicate the progress and check of the disease.

Instruments of all kinds used in surgery are laid out for inspection with a crowd of interested onlookers constantly in the vicinity.
Research has produced a mattress which provides a new high standard in hospital bed comfort. Dunlopillo is a mattress scientifically designed, providing millions of tiny, buoyant cells which gently breathe in and out and respond to the slightest movement of the body and ensuring constant circulation of air, which keeps the mattress at an even temperature.

Standard grades of standard hospital dressings are also on view. These are manufactured by machinery, whereas in the past they were largely made by hand in the hospitals.
The occupational therapy exhibits are most comprehensive and are attracting unusual interest in view of the development of this phase of convalescent care.

A protest from E. F. Burton and G.
A. McLelland against a proposal to build a store opposite Cloverdale School, was supported by the Saanich School Board yesterday evening, and the motion was forwarded to the municipal council.

COMMUNITY TO ASSIST BOARD

F. G. Aldous Will Undertake Voluntary Survey of School Grounds For Saanich

Residents of Mount Douglas to Complete Work at High School By "Bees"

A public-spirited move on the part of F. G. Aldous, who has undertaken the supervision of the construction of new basketball, soccer and tennis courts for the Mount Douglas High School, was received with appreciation by the Saanich School Board yesterday evening, and Mr. Aldous was thanked for his voluntary offer.

The plan, sponsored by the Mount Douglas P.T.A., provides that by means of "working bees" which have proved extremely popular in Saanich in completing community undertakings, the ground will be levelled off and cleared ready for use by the children.

Mr. Aldous, who is a land surveyor, will have charge of the work, assisted by A. G. Louie, who has also been prominently associated with similar moves formerly. It is also the intention of the association to construct a twenty-foot roadway at the entrance to the institution.

The board also authorized the construction of a bicycle shed at the school at a cost of $140.

YOUNG C.C.F. MEMBER HERE

Harold Winch Given Big Reception at Chamber of Commerce

"We Are Going to Bury Capitalism," He Says

"As long as we try to cure disease instead of removing it, we shall be in the same jacket. We are going down to the root of the evil to remove the cause which is the breakdown of the old system," declared Harold Winch, C.C.F. member-elect for the Vancouver East riding, in addressing a crowded meeting at the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium yesterday evening.

Mr. Winch, who is only twenty-six years of age, will be the youngest member in the Legislature.

At the conclusion of his address at the Chamber of Commerce Mr. Winch addressed an overflow meeting at the House of England Hall where some 200 people heard him speak again. "For the first time in the history of the province," he said, "you are going to have somebody in the legislature who will make public what is going on."

"The Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation has already done more than the Liberal Party," he contended at the beginning of his speech. "It has taken at least one man off direct relief. That person is myself. I was on the breadline."

In speaking of the accusations made against the C.C.F. the speaker said, "They have gone back to the days of Karl Marx, of Babeles and Berner and I am sorry that they didn't go back 2,000 years to the days when Jesus Christ laid down the principles of Christianity."

CHRISTIAN IS RADICAL
"When we repeat the Lord's prayer 'Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven' we are asking for a change. We are asking for the brotherhood of man; for an equal chance at life for every man, woman and child; for a radical change. As true Christians we are radicals. Let's put Christianity into practice," he pleaded. "We of the C.C.F. are not concerned with having religion in politics. A person's religious belief is that person's own business. We are out for complete religious freedom," he claimed.

"The C.C.F. is more than a political party," Mr. Winch said. "A knowledge of past history is necessary to fully understand this fact. We have not always had the same economic system. First we had tribal communism, then barbarism, next feudalism and now capitalism. For every change in our economic system there was a corresponding change in our religious, ethical, moral and political life. It has been that way all through the history of the world and the same thing has taken place in Canada."

CAPITALISM HAD DUTY
"The rebellion of 1837 was the death throes of feudalism and the birth pains of capitalism. Capitalism came into being for a certain purpose, with a set job to perform and it has done it well. There have always been two main problems facing mankind," he explained. "The first was the question of production and the second that of distribution. The industrial revolution harnessed the forces of nature and answered the first problem. Now the wheels of production are clogged with their own superabundance of wealth. The first problem has been answered by Capitalism. It has done the job marvellously well. Every economic system has a birth, life, decay and death. Capitalism is in its death throes at the present time."

"The birth of a new economic system," he said, "always has a new political party to help it along. The C.C.F. maintains that we must bury the old system and move into the new where we will answer the second of the two great problems facing mankind—that of equitable distribution."

The speaker went on to explain that when an economic system can no longer feed, clothe, shelter and make comfortable the members of society, it has perished. The capitalist system can not do these things so therefore, he maintained, it has perished.

"CREDIT Is Like a Looking-glass" and the Credit Granters' record is only a reflection of how people meet their obligations

"Credit is like a looking-glass, which, once sullied by a breath, may be wiped clear, but if once cracked, can never be repaired."

—SIR WALTER SCOTT.

THE records kept by the Credit Bureau on individuals act just like a looking-glass—truly reflecting the manner in which they pay their accounts with the merchants and professional men.

The individual makes the record, the Credit Bureau only records it. No opinions enter into it—only actual facts as reported by members. His conscience can give him his own record as clearly as a mirror reflects his image.

But to-day, "credit, once cracked," can be repaired. Any man who earnestly desires to, can rebuild his credit reputation and in doing so, find credit granters willing to meet him halfway!

Sir Walter Scott's own history is an inspiration for anyone in debt. Laboring arduously, he wrote and produced books which not only paid off his debts but made his name immortal!

Guard your credit as a sacred trust. If it has become impaired, start now to rebuild it, for your credit record is your credit reputation.

HEATING PLANT NEEDS CHANGES

Owing to the inefficiency of the heating plant, some rooms in the Victoria College building are too cold for comfort in the winter time. It was explained at the meeting of the school board yesterday evening when a report was submitted by the building and grounds committee on the possibility of remedying the situation. The board does not propose to spend the money immediately, but has secured an official's views as to the possibility of joining or eliminating some of the radiators, and to use both steam and hot water systems. One proposal is to separate these two systems so that when necessary, one part only of the building could be heated, thus saving in fuel bills. The suggestions will be investigated.

Payment of general and relief accounts totalling $4,281 for October was authorized by the Saanich council yesterday evening.

URGES SUPPORT OF GOVERNMENT

Pearson Tells Campaigners Government Just as Strong as Support It Gets

Nanaimo, Nov. 9.—A government is just as strong as the support it gets from people who elect them declared George S. Pearson, addressing campaign workers Tuesday night at the St. John Ambulance Hall.

The true function of a Liberal organization is to create strong public opinion by gathering together frequently and discussing the issues pertaining to the need of better government," he said.

Mr. Pearson appealed to his hearers to build up a strong Liberal organization not just for the purpose of winning elections, but for the purpose of questioning the character of the government and giving added support to its members. Mr. Pearson thanked all his workers in the Alberni-Nanaimo constituency. There were many, he said, unknown to him, who had worked hard for the Liberal cause, believing that there were many good men in the Liberal Party willing to give good government. Other speakers were W. Melior, campaign manager; Mr. Taylor, Errington, and Mr. Ford, Coombs. Harry McRae, president of the local Liberal Association, presided.

HEADACHES, DIZZY SPELLS, FELT TIRED AND DRAGGY
MANY women who suffer from female complaints, from weakening drains, headache and dizziness, can find relief by using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Read what Mrs. Jessie Smith of 42 Leger St., St. Catharines, Ont., says: "I suffered with inward trouble and felt dragged-out and weak all the time. My nerves were bad and I did not rest well at night. I was also troubled with headaches and dizzy spells. I took a few bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it built me up wonderfully—strengthened my entire system."

MORE ZONING IS SUGGESTED

Saanich Property Owners Favors Restrictions in Cordova Bay Area
Further indication of public opinion regarding the inauguration of zoning regulations was presented the Saanich Council yesterday evening in a letter from P. L. Hargreaves, Oak Bay, a Saanich property holder who suggested zoning Cordova Bay district.

While sympathizing with Mr. Hargreaves' appeal, the council said that it would be necessary to have a petition from a sufficient number of residents in the district to show that the move is generally favored. The council was unable to entertain the suggestion until it was proved that the residents supported it.

DAINTY MENUS ARE ARRANGED

Jane Taylor Allen Gives Hudson's Bay Cooking Class—Attractive Recipes

Continuing the series of cooking school classes being held in the Hudson's Bay Company store, Jane Taylor Allen, a director of General Foods Limited, spoke at some length yesterday afternoon on three distinct phases of the hostess food problem: "Buffet Supper," "Company Luncheon" and "Vegetable Lunch." The menus arranged were tempting and tasteful and with the added zest of Miss Allen's lucid instructions, many ladies insisted they were going "right home to try them."

For those who were unable to attend the classes, the menus and several recipes for individual dishes are given here:

Chicken Souffle
One cup hot water or chicken stock, one cup milk, one bouillon cube, five level teaspoons minute tapioca. Cook about fifteen minutes. When mixture has slightly cooled, add one cup chicken, diced. Three eggs—separate, and to the yolks add chicken and minute tapioca milk mixture. Fold egg whites into all.

Vegetable Casserole
One cup canned peas, one cup canned corn, half small onion finely chopped, one tablespoon parsley finely chopped, one teaspoon salt, dash paprika, one cup grapefruit, one cup milk, two strips bacon. Mix corn and peas. Put part in greased casserole with parsley, grapefruit and chopped onion. Then the rest of vegetable and peas and corn. On top put rest of grapefruit and pour over all the milk. Lay two strips of bacon on top. Cook in moderate oven for forty minutes.

EX-SUFFRAGETTES Too Respectable

Sylvia Fankhurst Declines Invitation to Anniversary Dinner

London, Nov. 9.—Time changes all things, especially suffragettes. Recently the Suffragette Fellowship held an anniversary dinner in London.
The organizing secretary was a woman who in her maiden name was very much to the fore in the pre-war "Votes for Women" campaign. She was a problem to the police, a thorn in the flesh of politicians and feared neither Holloway gaol nor the lime-light.

When I asked her for details of the dinner, she said, "Yes, but please keep my name out of the papers."

"The Suffragette Fellowship has three anniversary dinners a year," she said. "On February 6 we celebrate the granting of votes for women in 1918. On July 14, the late Mrs. Fankhurst's birthday, and on October 13, the first imprisonment of Suffragettes."

"It was on October 13, 1903, that Christabel Pankhurst and Annie Kenney were sent to gaol at Manchester. They had interrupted the late Sir Edward Grey, afterwards Lord Grey, at the Free Trade Hall. They were ejected and were arrested for a breach of the peace when trying to hold an indignation meeting outside."

"We shall have a good many ex-inmates of Holloway and other women's prisons at the dinner. Among other things we shall discuss the formation of a Suffragette museum. We have already collected a large number of mementoes of the fighting days—prison uniforms, a certain police inspector's walking-stick which was captured in a scuffle, documents, etc."

"When the collection is reasonably complete we shall find a suitable headquarters."

SYLVIA FANKHURST NOT INVITED

Miss Sylvia Fankhurst, one of the most active suffragettes in the pre-war campaigns, was not invited, to this dinner.
"The Fellowship knows I am not in sympathy with it," she told me. "When people who have fought for a thing reach their objective they often fly to the other extreme."

"The spirit of the pioneers was democratic. That of many members of the Fellowship is not."

"When the Fellowship was formed in 1927 by reviving the old organization, the Workers' Suffrage Federation, to which I had belonged, was left out. Apparently it was too plebeian."

"I was invited to join, but I declined, since the members of the Workers' Federation, many of whom are still working on public bodies, were not invited. I asked if it was an oversight, and was told that it was not."

"What is left of the suffragette movement has subsided into a frozen respectability. They are a very well-dressed crowd."

"But a dinner with no Fankhurst does seem like Hamlet without the Prince, doesn't it? My mother is dead. Christabel is out of it, and I am the only one left."

Texas Guinan's Will to Be Probated Soon; Left Much Wealth

Night Club Queen Got Out of Stock Market Before Crash

New York, Nov. 9.—Tex Guinan was nobody's sucker. As the body of New York's night club queen journeyed here from Vancouver, B.C., her attorney here revealed that her estate consists of "a quart of diamonds, enough bracelets, rings and necklaces to fill a berry basket," lace, trunks, antiques, annuities, large insurance policies and $40,000 cash.

Her will to be filed in two weeks leaves the bulk of her estate to her mother Mrs. Bessy Duffy Guinan. Her brother Tommy who accompanied the body to Chicago, where it will lie in state before its removal to New York was named as beneficiary in a $50,000 policy Tex took out as recently as a month ago.

Other insurance totals more than $200,000 and the annuity total is unknown to her lawyer Walter Solinger. "Tex was ahead. She got out of the stock market before the crash," he revealed.

Relatives honored her wish in arranging for her burial in New York "where I would rather have one square inch than all the rest of the world." Services will be held early next week from St. Malachy's (the actor's) church in West Forty-ninth Street.

Rudolph Valentino who worked as an extra for Tex in her early movie days, when she was the "queen of the cow operas" was buried from the same church.

Friends in Chicago prevailed upon Tommy Guinan to permit a stopover there. Her body will lie in state in New York at a funeral parlor and chorus girls, screen stars and wives of wealthy sportsmen together with other graduates of her floor shows, have consulted with her parents regarding funeral arrangements. All celebrities of the Great White Way are expected to attend.

Shelby Mont. Nov. 9.—The body of Texas Guinan passed through here by train this evening on the way to Broadway, where she gained note as a night club hostess.

A group of escorts accompanied the body from Vancouver, B.C., where she died and several members of the troupe during the station platform during the ten-minute stop of the train.

DANCE TO AID MS. JOHN ANTLE

All branches of the Anglican Young People's Association are co-operating to make the dance at the Yacht Club on Friday, November 17, a success. The dance will be in aid and in honor of the John Antle, the latest addition to the fleet of the Columbia Coast Mission.

The John Antle was donated by church societies in England and is expected to arrive in Victoria about the middle of the month.

The Columbia Coast Mission was instituted in 1905 by the Rev. Captain John Antle, and now has three boats, the Columbia, which has radio, telephone, a chapel, library and a hospital equipped with X-ray, stretcher and all necessary for up-to-date emergency medical service, and the two smaller boats, the Rendevous and the Freda.

These boats work up and down the coast calling at various camps, settlements and out of the way homesteads, showing motion pictures, ministering to the sick, holding services and bringing patients to various hospitals, three of which are maintained by the Columbia Coast Mission themselves.

AUXILIARIES ARE PRAISED

Dr. G. H. Agnew and Dr. M. T. MacEachern Commend Women's Work in Hospitals

Praise of the work of the women's auxiliaries to the hospitals was given by Dr. G. Harvey Agnew, Dr. Malcolm T. MacEachern and others at yesterday afternoon's session of the B.C. Hospitals' Association, following the submission of auxiliary reports by Mrs. A. C. Wilkes, Smithers, and J. H. McVety.

Dr. Agnew said the work of the auxiliaries could not be measured by dollars and cents.

Dr. MacEachern spoke of occupational therapy, embraced in the activities of the junior auxiliaries, as the finest thing possible for convalescent patients.

"It keeps up the morale of the wards and helps in the recovery of the patient," he said.

Reports of the following women's auxiliaries were submitted as follows: Royal Jubilee Hospital, St. Joseph's Hospital, St. Joseph's Hospital, Comox; Chilliwack Hospital, St. Paul's Hospital, Vancouver; Vancouver General Hospital, Chemainus General Hospital, Mission Memorial Hospital and Campbell River Hospital. Miss Rogers gave a review of the work of the Junior League of the Vancouver General Hospital.

SOCIAL, PERSONAL AND HOME INTERESTS

Man With a Thousand Masks

By Augustus Muir

It was with a strong sensation of relief that he left Tripp's flat and turned up Whitehall toward Trafalgar Square. But he came away with one firm determination to find out more about that old Riverside tavern, the Heart's Desire, and the gaunt, dark house that towered above it.

Alan might have been interested in the scene which followed his departure from the room that looked down over the lights of ships and barges gently stirring in the water of the Pool.

The man who called himself Julius Brown crushed the letter into his pocket and returned to his seat at the table.

"Nothing wrong, I trust, Mr. Brown?" asked the thin-faced man, opposite him.

This was Mr. Carlo Lewin, a solicitor with a nondescript practice on the south side of the river. He had represented many criminals, petty and otherwise, in the courts, and among the police of "the Borough" divisions he had carefully built up for himself a reputation for integrity—though the malfeasors whom he defended might have been surprised if they could have overheard some of the telephone conversations that passed between his dusty little office near the Surrey Commercial Docks and the headquarters of the "L" and "M" divisions of the Metropolitan Police.

"Nothing wrong, Mr. Brown?" repeated Carlo Lewin, his long, thin fingers tapping the edge of the table.

"No," returned Julius Brown brusquely. "It's a personal matter. He looked at the sailor-faced man with the narrow eyes who sat beside him at the head of the table. "Let's get on with our business, Tom. You said you had something to tell us."

Tom Young, the proprietor of the Heart's Desire was rubbing his yellow hands together uneasily, and his eyes were half closed.

"I am gratified that you are accepting the hospitality of my humble room, Mr. Brown," he said. "But perhaps our very good friend means to suggest that it is not wise to give the name of my house as an address."

"That's exactly what I do suggest," said Carlo Lewin, and Julius Brown scowled.

"Then the young gentleman who called is a very good friend who can be trusted?" asked Tom Young smoothly.

"Never saw him before in my life," returned Brown, with a shrug.

"A stranger? You gave your address here to a stranger?" exclaimed Lewin, his small, sharp eyes snapping.

Julius Brown brought his fist down on the table.

"I tell you that fellow was only delivering a personal letter he'd forgotten to send the District Messenger—didn't you hear him apologizing? It's none of my business what he does."

"I'm not objecting to the price," replied Mrs. Priddy quickly. "I'm objecting to the way it's paid."

"I'll pay you for my share of the bill," said Tom Young, still on his feet, smiling down across the table at Lydia Priddy.

"Does not the lady consider that our honorable friend runs risk enough?" "Risk? He runs risks that terrify—yes, terrify me! But how little more he would run to meet us here instead of doing everything through you. Here's my question, Tom. Do you know who Lord John is?"

The Eurasian lady were half closed, and the corners of his lips twitched slightly as he replied:

"The lady's question is indeed remarkable."

"However," he continued, "I have word from our honorable friend that the danger is now past. The documents, which might soon have involved us all, have been stolen from the hands of the ever-watchful police."

In the silence that followed Julius Brown lit a short cigar and flung the match into the fireplace.

"Stolen from the police," repeated Tom Young. "But not by our honorable friend?"

He rose slowly to his feet. The smile had gone from his lips, and the faintly yellow skin seemed to be stretched tight and smooth over the bony structure of his face.

"Stolen," he said in a clear voice, "by someone in this room?"

"Only Priddy drew in her breath in a slight but audible gasp, and her blue eyes darted round the table at the faces of the three men who were seated there. Julius Brown was scowling at the grey tip of his cigar, and Carlo Lewin opposite was watching him covertly from below furrowed brows."

"By someone in this room, Tom?" he asked in a slightly drawing voice.

Tom Young gave a polite inclination of his head.

"I only repeat the all-wise words of our honorable friend. He himself had intended to remove the documents, for his spirit was troubled so long as they remained in the hands of the vigilant police. But one of his friends in this room, with a generous heart, has performed the skilful duty. Our honorable friend would have been grateful—but for the fact that the skilful one has hid his dishonorable peace."

"Is he hanging on to the document?" said Adrian Lister, with the suspicion of a sneer.

"Only our discerning friend has spoken the unfortunate truth," murmured Tom Young.

"One of us here," said Carlo Lewin harshly, "is trying to double-cross Lord John? That's what you're getting at?"

Again Tom Young inclined his head politely.

"I only repeat the words of our honorable friend."

"There was a long silence, which was broken by Mrs. Priddy, who crushed out her cigarette and leaned forward, one slender arm stretched across the table."

"I want to put a straight question to you, Tom. We have been very useful to Lord John, one way and another, these last few months—"

"The lady does not trust—"

"Our honorable friend here gently. 'Our honorable friend has paid well for his information. I may have no complaints to make about the price.'"

"I'm not objecting to the price," replied Mrs. Priddy quickly. "I'm objecting to the way it's paid."

"I'll pay you for my share of the bill," said Tom Young, still on his feet, smiling down across the table at Lydia Priddy.

"Does not the lady consider that our honorable friend runs risk enough?" "Risk? He runs risks that terrify—yes, terrify me! But how little more he would run to meet us here instead of doing everything through you. Here's my question, Tom. Do you know who Lord John is?"

Uncle Wiggly's Entertainment

(By HOWARD R. GARIS.)

"What in the world are you doing, Uncle Wiggly?" asked Mrs. Longears. Fuzzy Wuzzie the muskrat lady house-keeper, one morning. She watched the rabbit gentleman setting a lot of chairs in rows in the big living room of his hollow stump bungalow. "Why are you moving the chairs all around like that?" asked Mrs. Longears. "It looks as if you were going to start a school."

"I am—a sort of school," said Mr. Longears, brushing a bit of dust off his pink nose.

"Do you mean a party of a moving picture entertainment?" asked the muskrat lady, for she knew there were little moving picture machines—that could entertain even in a rabbit gentleman's hollow stump bungalow.

"No, mine is to be a sort of bedtime story entertainment," answered Mr. Longears. "I am going to invite all the animal boys and girls to my bungalow and I am going to tell them bedtime stories. I find that many fathers and mothers get tired of reading bedtime stories to their children, so I am going to help them by telling stories myself."

"That's a fine idea," agreed Mrs. Longears. "I think it would be a good thing if the children learned to read bedtime stories for themselves."

"We shall come to that in time," spoke the bunny gentleman. "First, bedtime stories must be read to the children while they are in bed. Then, when they are older, they can read them for themselves. There! he exclaimed, as he put the last chair in place. "Now I am all ready for my entertainment. I'll go out and invite the children to come to my bungalow for a little while after supper."

"Out and away over Woodland, up hill and down hill, through the woods and across the fields hopped Mr. Longears. Most of the animal boys and girls were waiting for him at the Lady Mouse teacher. But their mothers were at home and one and all said they would let Johnnie, Billie, Sammie, Susie, Arabella, Tommie, Joe or Katie come to Uncle Wiggly's entertainment after supper."

"But if my Bobbie comes to your entertainment, Mr. Longears," said Mrs. Ringtail, the racoon lady, "you had better not let him take with him that nice buzzer you gave him."

"Because," answered Mr. Ringtail, "you know that buzzer of Bobbie's plays soft lullaby music like a baby mouth organ and the music sends everybody to sleep. I don't know how many times I have seen Bobbie start to spin his top and before he knows it he is fast asleep and the top falls over on its side and I guess that also goes to sleep."

"That's so," admitted Mr. Longears. "I had forgotten about Bobbie's sleepy top. But if he does bring it to my entertainment, I think he will listen to the stories and he will not spin his top neither he nor any of the others will go lullaby asleep."

"Perhaps," said Mrs. Ringtail. "Anyhow, it is very sweet of you to give an entertainment for the children."

"Not at all," Uncle Wiggly replied. "I love to amuse the children and I shall have as much fun telling them bedtime stories as they have in listening to them."

The rabbit gentleman hopped about going to his home and to that house inviting the animal boys and girls to his bungalow that evening. And when the time came the room was so full of rabbits, squirrels, pussy cats and puppy dogs, besides Bobbie and Bettie, the racoon children, that there was hardly a place for Uncle Wiggly to stand up in front to tell them a bedtime story. But Mrs. Longears found a stool for Mr. Longears to stand on and he began.

"Bobbie Ringtail here!" asked Uncle Wiggly, though well he knew the little racoon chap was there.

"I'm here," squeaked Bobbie.

"Bring me your lullaby top," said Mr. Longears. "I don't want you to play that while I'm telling a story and send us all to sleep."

So Bobbie brought up his brightly painted tin top and hummed music like a mouth organ and Uncle Wiggly started.

"Once upon a time," said the rabbit gentleman, "there was a little—"

and then, all of a sudden, something happened. I'll tell you what it was to-morrow night when the story will be about Uncle Wiggly's whistlers. And I hope the tomato doesn't kick the football and make it all red like a toy balloon."

BEHAVIOR PROBLEMS FALL INTO FAMILIAR STAGES

Children go through periods of character development that are as definite and their symptoms as well known as periods of physical growth. Behavior problems of very definite kinds crop up at definite periods.

The so-called "negativistic period," at which time the child tends to say "No," and "I won't" to every suggestion "pleasant" or otherwise, is almost as much to be expected as that he will sprout teeth. It is a period where mothers anticipate and consequently know how to handle. My leaflet, "How to Meet the Child's Opposition," is available to mothers interested in this particular behavior problem. Just send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request for it.

There are periods when good naps habits are discarded, when toilet habits are abandoned, when the child spends most of this day crying and rebelling against everything and everyone. These are universal evidences of growth which are marked by the commonplace misbehaviors. In most instances they are outgrown without any very drastic action on the part of the parents.

THE RAPIDLY DISCARDED

The important point is that a great many behavior difficulties would be more quickly outgrown were nothing done about them. It is always essential for the mother to check up on the psychological rightness of her training methods, on the child's diet and the helpful influences of his environment. Once she has made certain that she is doing the right thing, she had better ignore the misbehavior.

There comes a moment when the child drops his bad habits just as he assumes them, without rhyme or reason, not because of something magically helpful which the parent did, but because they had run their course.

We must expect transitions from good to bad quite as much as we look forward to similar transitions from bad to good. Such is the nature of growth.

STRONG POLICE MOVES IN SPAIN

Government Says Plotters Planned Terrorism Before Elections Nov. 19

Madrid, Nov. 9.—The government "cracked down" sternly against extremists reported to have plotted a campaign of terror preceding the national elections.

The plot, government agents disclosed, contemplated a general strike and wide disorders in an attempt to interfere with the Spanish elections November 19.

Three were badly bruised and one seriously wounded in a knife fight between Socialists and Rightists yesterday evening. A bomb exploded in the Salamanca district.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

By SISTER MARY

In the attempt to conform to the present day standards of nutrition, many home-makers face the problem of satisfying the family's sweet tooth and at the same time providing a diet not too high in sugar.

There is no gaining that sugar is perfectly good food with a legitimate place in the dietary. It is indeed the very essence of calories, supplying heat and energy quickly, abundantly and economically. However, in its refined form, it is a one-sided food, purely a fuel, with none of the necessary building material and body regulators.

MOLASSES NUTRITION

One answer to the problem lies in the use of sugar in a less concentrated and more nearly natural state than is represented by refined white sugar. Of these molasses is one of the most valuable, both for its nutritive properties and because of its adaptability to use in so many recipes.

A product of the sugar cane, just as granulated sugar is, molasses has not been deprived of the important minerals and other food elements that are contained in the cane.

When molasses is used in cooking, it should be remembered that it does not sweeten foods to any great extent and a little granulated sugar may be needed. Soda rather than baking powder is used with molasses in breads, cakes and cookies.

Public Becoming Hospital-minded

Change Being Wrought by Community Consciousness of Hospitals, Says Dr. Malcolm T. MacEachern of Chicago; Tells How Hospitalization Institutions Are Heroically Coping With Financial Difficulties

Hospitals are to-day instilling in the public a spirit of "hospital-mindedness" by evidencing among themselves growing spirit of "Community-Consciousness," declared Dr. Malcolm T. MacEachern, associate director of the American College of Surgeons, Chicago, and former head of the Vancouver General Hospital, in the course of a luncheon address at the Royal Jubilee Hospital yesterday to delegates attending the sixteenth convention of the British Columbia Hospitals' Association.

Dr. MacEachern's comprehensive subject was "How hospitals are meeting present-day conditions."

"The hospital's first and foremost duty is giving safe medical care to its patients," said the speaker, "but to-day it has another responsibility—that is to play a vital part in community life. The day of isolation and mystery is long past. To-day the hospital stands as an integral part in communal life. Not only has the hospital gone into the life of the community, but the community is coming into the life of the hospital. The hospital is now a place where the public can go to get its health, its education and research, acting as a training ground for physicians, nurses, dietitians, and others, but it has developed a close relationship with the community. To be recognized by its community, the hospital must take an interest in civic activities and become associated with community advancement and progress. Every contact the hospital makes provides an opportunity to present its cause and emphasize the truly important role it plays in the life of its community."

"Such a spirit of community-consciousness," continued Dr. MacEachern, "will help the public to become hospital-minded."

"It will show the public that the hospital is worthy of playing a major role in the life of the community, that it is a life-saving station, an indispensable servant of the public. But the public must first understand hospitals before they can give their sympathy. They must receive information concerning hospitals, medical service and nursing care."

roles in difficult times. I think hospitals must be listed among the heroic institutions of this depression period, and for this heroism they pay a terrible price. They have made their economy stricter; they have slashed salaries down the length of the pay-roll; they have heroically permitted deficits to pile up against some future day of reckoning; they have preferred to suffer a financial deficit rather than permit a service deficit; during the most trying years known to this generation, they have stood their ground; they have withheld nothing; they have not resorted to panicky, untimely, or hastily conceived appeals for financial help. We have had a hard holiday, but we have yet to hear of a hospital holiday. As we approach the turn of the economic tide, therefore, the hospitals stand as an heroic unit in the ranks of the community agencies that are seeing their towns or cities through to normal and better times, and the goodwill that hospitals have accumulated as a result of the institutional heroism they have displayed is to-day at a new high level on this continent."

BEYOND ESTIMATION

Hospitals, proceeded Dr. MacEachern, must convert this goodwill into economic advantage. The financial value of the hospital to the public was far beyond human estimation.

"It is a great credit to the hospitals of Canada and of the United States," continued the speaker, "that notwithstanding all these trying times they have been no moralists, but have continued to do their duty as hospitals. In the United States, one out of every twenty-two business organizations had been going into the hands of receivers; while only one out of every fifty hospitals had closed their doors. Never before in the history of hospitals, the speaker said, had there been such careful analyses of hospital accounting and studies of financial policies. Repeated adjustments of expenses to income had been made; more careful supervision of services had been effected."

DEFINITE TRENDS

Hospitals have been working individually and collectively in order to weather the stormy economic disturbance. Somewhere in the financial wreckage they would find a solid foundation upon which to build. Already, he observed, certain definite trends in hospital administration were evident which show how hospitals are attempting to meet the economic conditions with which they are faced to-day.

DRASTIC ECONOMIES

Speaking of the drastic economies which had been put into effect by the hospitals in attempts to balance budgets, Dr. MacEachern stated the greatest economic adjustment had been in the handling and use of food, drugs and supplies, which had been brought about through persistent study and increasing vigilance. Better methods of accounting had been developed, with improved standards of distribution and consumption. The second effort to balance the budget had been made through the reduction of salaries, averaging from 12 to 15 per cent of the total payroll, with extremes from 2 to 40 per cent. It was of great credit to the hospital personnel that a fine morale had been maintained, notwithstanding salary reductions with consequent hardship devolving upon many workers. It was gratifying to learn that in some instances former salary schedules were being restored, and he ventured to hope that it would not be long before it would be universal in its application.

The third major source of expenditure reduction had arisen from reduction of personnel and readjustment of jobs or activities in hospitals. There had been effected an elimination of certain activities regarded as non-essential under present conditions, and an extensive combination of functions and activities under one person or service. In this manner, the speaker pointed out, reductions in personnel had been realized to a degree worthy of notice in many institutions.

Personally, he did not believe that reductions in personnel had always been warranted, nor had all readjustments of activities been wisely made or desirable, but in most instances they had been impelled. He illustrated this meaning by means of two instances. The elimination of a competent dietitian in a large hospital and the placing of the food service under a steward or head cook, as well as the administration of anesthesia in a seventy-five-bed hospital, was not always economical. The superintendent should be free to administer the hospital as a whole, rather than major on different units, some of which were minor in nature. Many desirable adjustments of services, activities and combinations, however, had been made without in any way disturbing the quality of service.

VALUABLE RESEARCH

"We have gone through a period of real and lasting valuable research into hospital management and administration, and from it we have gleaned information which has given us, or will give us, knowledge to react to some of our methods," said Dr. MacEachern. "My belief is that this will result in better business administration, improved standards of distribution and usage of supplies, better organization of personnel and allocation of duties determined through a closer study of the work-load of the hospital. Eternal vigilance and frequent analyses of performance must go on regardless of whether times are good, bad or indifferent. It may truly be said that there is no calamity but which brings in its wake some good."

Hospitals were now choosing better trained and more adequately experienced persons for administrators, the speaker said. If the financial earthquake had uncovered nothing else of value, it would still have been important for revealing the extent of influence yielded by the hospital administrator. The importance of well-trained and experienced administrators for the sound and stable financial condition of a hospital and its efficient care of the sick and injured, he said, was to-day beyond dispute. There was no doubt that superior administrators meant superior hospitals.

Touching upon the question of voluntary institutions seeking support of their governments for the care of necessitous cases, Dr. MacEachern said there had always been an unwritten code, a sort of tradition, that no patient requiring hospital care should be denied admission in any institution. The percentage of free work done in some hospitals to-day, he said, averaged as high as 65 and 70 per cent. This was far too heavy a burden, especially in these times. The truth of the matter, the speaker asserted, was that there were many tax-supported institutions which were not able to care for all the free or charity patients, hence the burden had been thrust upon voluntary or non-tax-supported hospitals in the community with little or no special financial support from any source other than much reduced earnings and meagre donations or gifts.

HUGE INVESTMENT

"The people of Canada and the United States," said Dr. MacEachern, "have invested the sum of approximately $1,500,000,000 in tax-supported hospitals. Through taxation the public supports these governmental institutions with more than $415,000,000 each year. Voluntary hospitals have an investment of $1,404,000,000, almost as much as is invested in governmental institutions. Last year the voluntary hospitals cared for nearly 75 per cent of all patients who were given hospital care. In addition more than one-third of this service was dedicated to the care of the free or necessitous patients. The income of the voluntary hospital has fallen off enormously during the last four years. Fewer and fewer patients are able to pay for any amount of their hospitalization. And charity patients who cannot get into the public, tax-supported hospital come to the voluntary institution for free care. Certainly, then, he went on, "non-supported institutions are perfectly reasonable in their belief that they should be reimbursed for the cost of the service which they are giving to vast numbers of free patients who cannot pay their way, and are, therefore, in actuality, charges of the state. The voluntary hospitals of Canada have for many years enjoyed sympathetic though not always too liberal financial support from municipal and provincial governments in the care of their free patients. The policy of having such cases cared for in voluntary or community hospitals subsidized by municipal, provincial, or state governments, without political control, is commendable."

DEPRECIATED INCOME

Philanthropic income had vastly depreciated, said Dr. MacEachern, in citing figures compiled after a careful survey in Canada and the United States by Dr. Caldwell, which showed that the income from all sources of philanthropy for hospitals between 1929 and 1932 had dropped from $135,000,000 to $40,000,000. There was not a great need for a more impressive awakening of the governmental bodies as to their respective community responsibilities for the care of the necessitous poor within their confines? asked Dr. MacEachern. "In Canada you have made fine progress in this respect. In the United States much is yet to be done even to initiate the policy in many communities, and only a limited number of localities participate in such benefits. I advocate the hospitalization of free and necessitous patients in approved voluntary or community hospitals, cared for by competent, well-organized medical staffs, where the cost of hospitalizing these patients is shared by the taxpayer and the philanthropist without political influence or manipulation of any kind. In this way millions of dollars can be saved the taxpayer in due course and the nation at large by not having to build, equip, and maintain huge tax-supported hospitals. We must lift the burden of paying for charity or free patients from the private patient, and place it where it properly belongs, that is, on the consolidated revenue of the community and on philanthropy." Another way in which some hospitals were managing to meet present-day conditions was through government subsidy, he said.

The trend to-day, said the speaker, was cooperation, real and sincere. Encouragement must be given to consolidation of effort and sharing of facilities if economy and efficiency was to be maintained in the hospitals. Dr. MacEachern spoke of the more general use by physicians of hospital facilities and equipment and the organizing of health inventories in hospitals.

He also stressed the necessity of "safe" hospitals, quoting a recent report of the American College of Surgeons to the effect that out of 3,555 hospitals of Canada and the United States, 2,150, or 67 per cent, had been accepted on the approved list announced October 9. Of these, he said, 170 excellent institutions were located in Canada.

The Saanich Council yesterday evening was notified by R. H. Pooley, acting Minister of Public Works, that the George bridge is now completed with the exception of having its final coat of paint. The government had purchased the paint, but could not afford to pay labor costs, he stated. The municipal engineer stated negotiations were under way with Esquimalt to have funds raised for the cost of labor.

Requests from Prospect Lake residents to have an inspection of the Prospect Lake School, were received by the Saanich School Board yesterday evening and the delegation was advised a government inspection was now under way.

NO "NEW DEAL" NEEDED FOR COUGHS OR COLDS with Buckley's Mixture around

BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE is still supreme when it comes to dealing a knockout blow to coughs, colds, flu or bronchitis. Every day brings unsolicited testimonials that no other remedy is so safe, so dependable, so lightning fast in action. Coughs and colds relieved with one dose—banned with two—bronchitis of many years standing miraculously relieved with one bottle, is the story they tell. If you have tried other remedies in vain, why not make sure of relief by taking BUCKLEY'S. It acts like a flash—A single sip proves it. Play safe—refuse substitutes—Buckley's is sold everywhere.

Urges Bridge And Sweepstake

New Platform in Legislature Campaign Introduced By Alderman Williams

Alderman B. T. Williams opened his campaign for election to the Legislature as an Independent by announcing at his meeting in the South Park School yesterday evening, the two planks of his platform as follows:

1. Legalizing of sweepstakes for raising funds for B.C. hospitals, thus solving at one move the whole hospital finance question which has been bothering governments, municipal councils and hospital directors for years.
2. Building of the Seymour Narrows Bridge, a task which nature has left to man to link this island with the mainland and thus bring this island to its place in the sun and an assured prosperity.

The gathering was made noteworthy by the fact that it was the first campaign meeting at which projector and lantern slides have been introduced to throw pictures on a screen with which to enlighten and entertain the crowd.

D. G. Tuckwell supported Alderman Williams and urged that what the Legislature needed now that the Liberal Party had a safe majority was honest, straightforward, strong and level-headed men in opposition such as the alderman, who, he declared, had always had the interests of the people at heart and would prove an excellent watchdog.

Speaking on his sweepstake plan, Alderman Williams said:

"Do you know that the Irish Free State last month collected $11,000,000 through sweepstakes to assist its hospitals? We have already seen that the city of Vancouver voted three to one in favor of legalizing sweepstakes for this purpose. I believe that if a plebiscite were taken for the entire province that the result would be much the same. With the word of the people, the government can then make an appeal to Ottawa and have proper laws put into effect so that British Columbia may reap the benefit of legalized sweepstakes and help their hospitals."

Then, turning to the Seymour bridge, he said: "There has been a great deal of opposition to the venture, because it was said that the cost of such a bridge would be prohibitive. This was an entirely wrong impression. If a cantilever railway bridge were contemplated, then the cost would be high. But for an automobile suspension bridge, the outlay would be comparatively small, especially in view of the fact that nature had already provided excellent anchorage on both sides."

By building this bridge and a road up the Homathka River to Tatla Lake, in the rich Chilcotin country, Vancouver Island would be firmly joined to the 22,000 miles of highway in the main part of the province, and a circular route would be provided which would carry considerably more traffic up and down Vancouver Island than there is at present.

"In matters of this kind," said Alderman Williams, "unless we stick together and demand our rights, we will never be any better off than we are to-day. In the past, Vancouver Island and Victoria have never got their fair share of expenditures by the provincial government. There have been millions spent on the mainland, while only paltry sums have been spent on the island." He proposed that automobile toll bridges, aided by land grants of 1,000 acres a mile to revert back to the government inside of fifty years free of cost, be built.

L. BARRYMORE AT DOMINION

Plays Leading Role With

Dorothy Jordan in New Picture "One Man's Journey"

All too seldom a picture of great beauty and power, with a theme which strikes a responsive cord in the heart of every beholder, comes to the screen.
But such a film is now seen in "One Man's Journey." RKO-Radio Picture which opened at the Dominion Theatre to-day.

Lionel Barrymore is starred in this intensely human and moving production, and in characterizing the typical country doctor he rises to the greatest heights of his long and brilliant career.
An exceptionally strong cast adds admirably. Such players as Dorothy Jordan,
Joel McCrea, Frances Dee and May Robson contribute impressive performances while juvenile interest is added by the fine work of several splendid child players.

"One Man's Journey" tells effectively and entertainingly a story of a great man who considers himself a failure.
Superb in characterization, the story is also rich in romantic interest, suspenseful situations and delightful comedy.

"Bitter Sweet" Here Saturday

"I'll See You Again," the haunting Noel Coward melody introduced several years ago in "Bitter Sweet," is taking on a new lease of life through the film version of "Bitter Sweet," which is coming to the Capitol Theatre Saturday. This song is sung by Anna Neagle and Fernand Gravelly (who also sing "Dear Little Cafe" and "The Call of Life"). Stuart Robertson, popular English baritone, sings the rousing drinking song, "Tokay," and Ivy St. Heller sings two French-English songs in her inimitable way.

COMING TO COLUMBIA

The Columbia Theatre will hold a special midnight show on Armistice Eve, commencing at 11:30 o'clock, at which the picture, "Homestead," starring the four famous Marx Brothers, will be shown.

Starring Jessie Matthews

The popular star of "The Good Companions," Jessie Matthews, returns to the screen to-day at the Empire Theatre in a snappy musical farce, "Little Tommie Tucker," the film adaptation of the famous English musical comedy

"Out of the Blue." This new importation from the British studios also includes a brilliant stage and screen company in Gene Gerrard, who scored an immediate hit in his first picture,
"My Wife's Family." "Little Tommie Tucker" is the first picture featuring two such fine artists and a great team

Allard de Ridder

Notable Composer

Under the guidance of Allard de Ridder, a conductor of assured musicianship, and artistic insight, The Vancouver Symphony Orchestra continues to grow in musical eloquence and orchestral prestige, and the concert to be given in The Royal Victoria Theatre next Monday evening, will be a musical feast. There is something very powerful in Mr. de Ridder's gentleness and a minor instrumentalist should rise to efficiency under such a baton. It is the opinion of an eminent critic. Conducting is a great technical art, though possibly the music-loving layman fails to recognize it as being little more than the waving of a stick. But it has a wide technique. The well-trained conductor needs to know something more of music than to be able to play only one instrument. He requires to be a fluent reader of the monumental scores of many great composers. He learns his art only after many years of hard study and practice. Mr. de Ridder is a composer of note, having conducted some of his own works with the Vancouver Symphony Orchestra as well as the Los Angeles. "His Symphonic poem, "The Song of Lania," has received most favorable comments from noted critics.

Zane Grey Story Is Showing Here

Although they represent different schools of villainy, Jack LaRue and Noah Beery vie for "menace" honors in Paramount's "To the Last Man," the Zane Grey outdoor romance with Randolph Scott, Esther Ralston and Buster Crabbe in the leading roles, which is now playing at the Columbia Theatre.
LaRue, a product of the gangster brand of skull-duggery, is cast in the fiercer role, a desperado who kills for the sheer joy of killing. Beery, an old hand at playing western outlaws, while no less a menace, gives quarter to his enemies in the crucial moment.
Also being shown is "Mama Loves Papa," with Charlie Ruggles.

THREE DIE IN

ROAD ACCIDENT

Los Angeles, Nov. 9. - Three men were killed and three seriously injured yesterday in a collision and explosion involving four trucks on the Teha-schapi Mountain Highway six miles north of Castaic.

Reports to the sheriff's office attributed the tragedy to a runaway oil truck and a trailer, heavily laden with an explosive gas hurling down the new cutoff grade at a tremendous speed, out of control. It collided with another truck going up the grade, resulting in an explosion and fire. Then two other trucks, loaded with grapes, coming down the grade crashed into the flaming wreckage.

Hon. William Savage, Minister of Public Works, has appropriated $1,000 to keep the snowploughs going in the Barkerville area. This sum will be sufficient to carry on until the Liberal

Government takes over affairs on November 15. Mr. Savage estimates the cost of road repairs in the mining district at $52,000. All potholes were filled in and grading was done in the canyon, making it possible to keep roads in a passable condition with the aid of snowploughs.

Gordon Richards Sets New Record for English Jockeys

Amateur-pro Bugbear Will Again Be Before Amateur Union

Connie Mack Figuring on John Marcum to Replace Earnshaw

GORDON RICHARDS, England's famous jockey, yesterday shattered Fred Archer's English riding record of 346 winning mounts in one season by booting home his 247th winner this year. To tens of thousands in England who like to bet on horse races Jockey Richards to-day is the greatest man in the world. He is only a jockey but he has got the public wild. He's got the bookies tearing their hair. At the Chesham track, recently one fan solemnly said: "He is the greatest man in the world." Following his breaking of the record yesterday Richards received a congratulatory telegram from King George, who has shown great interest in the riding of the twenty-nine-year-old star.

Who is this super-jockey? He was born at Salop, England, May 5, 1904. His father was the manager of a small coal mine and, after his school days were over, Gordon got a job in the office. In his off-hours he was allowed to ride the pit ponies. A girl in the office told him, Martin Hartigan, a well-known trainer, was advertising for an apprentice. Richards got the job. It is estimated that Richards is earning about $75,000 a year. He sells much of it away, being neither a gambler nor a speculator. He is married, has two children, and when not advising takes his family to St. Moritz, Switzerland, for his holidays.

That yearly argument as to whether amateurs and professionals should be allowed to mix in sport will be resumed at the annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, this month. When the time-worn subject likely will be dealt with at some length. As usual the proposal to lessen the amateur restrictions is sponsored by the west, while Quebec is willing to stand support. Ontario is the province most strongly in favor of leaving things as they are, and will have considerable influence at the annual gathering.

At the last annual meeting of the A.A.U. a committee, headed by Dr. Lamb, Montreal, was appointed to study the situation and report on the advisability of allowing professionals to play with and against amateurs under certain conditions. It is believed that the report will be a recommendation against any great change, for the governing bodies of the various sports appear content with present conditions. The action of the Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Association in going on record as opposing the proposed changes was a surprise to many as some of the followers and officials expressed the view that a lax code of amateurism would be desirable. In any event, the matter doubtless will prove the subject of another stormy debate during the annual meeting at Winnipeg.

Connie Mack, veteran manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, paid $35,000 in cash and one player to Louisville for pitcher John Marcum, whom he thinks will replace big George Earnshaw, who is to be traded or sold. "He'll be the greatest right-hander in the American league," says Cap Neale of Louisville, the minor league sage, who hasn't failed to sell at least one good player a season for the last fifteen years. "He has been carefully nursed along, and he was ready when he went up. He started right in winning, and he'll resume where he left off next spring. The A's should win the pennant with him."

The Louisville club had Marcum since back in 1928. He was a green country boy then, living in a near-by county. He was too green to farm to a Class D club. No one wanted him. So the Louisville club paid him a small salary just to keep him in line. When the Colonels were at home John came in from the farm and worked out with the veterans. When the Colonels went on the road John returned to the farm. This kept up for over a year. Finally Neale induced the farm manager at Dayton to take Marcum. He and his handlers were not sure whether he was a pitcher or an outfielder. He was big and could hit. He stands 6 feet 1 inch and weighs 200 pounds, just the size Connie Mack likes. His success was not sensational, but he was learning, and when the Colonels were short of pitchers he was called in, and immediately began pitching good ball. He kept it up until sold last summer.

Western Canada Football Final at Winnipeg Promises Real Competition

EASTERN TITLES MAY BE DECIDED

Montreal Wheelers Can Cinch Big Four Title By Victory Over Argonauts

Calgary, Nov. 9.—The buffeting they took in defeating Vancouver Maroons for the right to meet Winnipeg in the Western Canada football final in the Manitoba city to-day had so far worn off that President Hal Lewis announced he would take practically all his senior Altomahs east with him. The team left to-day for Winnipeg. With Coach Dave Jowett, trainer Alex Forsythe, and twenty-five players, the party totalling twenty-eight, Lewis said all the boys were capable of getting in the game for the western title, but four of them might not start play until late in the struggle. Star kicking half of the Altomahs and Bulwark of the second defence line in last week's game, Alex McKenzie can still feel the bruises he suffered in checking the Vancouver onslaught, but hopes to be perfectly fit by Saturday.

NURSE INJURIES
Graves, another half, and two quarters, Gittus and T. McDowell, are on the consecutive list but are considered in sufficiently good shape to make the trip. Graves suffered a back injury some time ago, and playing last week appears to have aggravated his condition. Other players who left to-day were: Ritchie and Butters, snags; Hagen, Ferguson and Morley, inside; Charlie, Munroe, Thompson and Ellis, middle; Friend, Williamson, McConnell, Engle and Sutherland, Thom, Williams, Roberts, Hopkinson and McNeill, halves.

Winnipeg, Nov. 9.—An ambition to play in a Western Canada junior rugby championship has been denied young Neil Nairn, sterling lineman of the Deer Lodge squad preparing to meet the Altomah Indians at Calgary on Saturday. Nairn, most disappointed lad in the city to-day, suffered a rupture in the game against the Saskatoon Hilltops last Saturday. He is out of play for the rest of the season.

Dave Grant, who packs 190 pounds, will take Nairn's place, while Bob Moody, another 190 pounder, will travel along as an extra lineman. Coach Fred Ritter put the squad through another stiff workout yesterday and preparations for the all-important game conclude to-day with a light signal drill.

Toronto, Nov. 9.—If there is all the power in the football stronghold of Montreal—Winnipeg, and Sarnia Imperials that reports say, and if the western Mustangs can raise just one upsetting wallop to add to the multitude of unexpected blows this campaign has seen, then there will be no playoffs for titles in the east this fall. It will be all over if the Wheelers defeat Argonauts, Sarnia whips Balmy Beach and the Mustangs can go into Kingston and overpower Queen's, on the surface the toughest assignment of the lot. These results would make Wheelers champions of the Interprovincial Imperials champions of the O.R.F.U. and the winner of the McGill-Toronto struggle atop the Intercollegiate.

But all Argos have to do to create a three-cornered tie in the Big Four is down Montreal, while Ottawa Roughriders do what is expected of them and hand Hamilton Tigers a sixth straight defeat. That would leave Hamilton out and the other three to fight it out for the title.

But all Argos are heavily backed to win from Western, and if they do they will be tied for the Intercollegiate lead with McGill or Varsity, who play here. A victory over Imperials at Sarnia would leave Balmy Beach in a position where all they have to do to capture the title is win a replayed game from St. Michael's College, hardly a soft job in view of the Irish team's triumph over Sarnia last Saturday.

Independent Commission Plan May Go Up in Smoke If B.C.F.A. Heads Fail to Hand in Resignations as Agreed; Coast League Moguls Beginning to Have Doubts

LEADING FIGURES IN SATURDAY'S ARMY RUGBY GAME

In the above layout a number of the officials and players who will hold a leading role in Saturday's English rugby classic, the annual army game between the Canadian Scottish and Fifth Brigade for possession of the Lieutenant-Governor's Cup, are shown. The fixture will be staged at the Athletic Park, with the kick-off billed for 2.45 o'clock. The Lieutenant-Governor will attend along with the senior military and naval officers. Last year the teams battled to a scoreless deadlock, while in 1931, the first year of the competition, the Scottish won the trophy with an 11 to 0 victory. Those in the above picture are: Top row, left to right: Harry Robson, half-back of the Scottish; Dan Dorell, forward of the Fifth; Bobby Tye, five-eighths of the Scottish; Ted Colgate, full-back of the Scottish; Roddy McInnes, full-back of the Fifth; bottom row, left to right: Cyril of the Scottish; Frank Gribble, three-quarter of the Scottish; Charlie Morton, coach of the Fifth; and Charlie Morton, coach of the Fifth.

Five Athletes Are Named Candidates For Crowe Trophy

Bobby Leitham May Meet King

Montreal, Nov. 9.—Possibility of a British Empire bantamweight title bout between Johnny King, London, and Bobby Leitham, Montreal, here in December loomed to-day. Alex Moore, Montreal promoter, to-day cabled King, British Empire champion, an offer to meet Leitham, Canadian titleholder, here December 7.

It would be the second time the two bantams have met for the same title, King receiving a much-discussed split decision at Olympic, London, June 12.

Announce Date For Banff Winter Sports

Banff, Alta., Nov. 9.—The Banff winter sports carnival will be held this winter from January 31 to February 4, inclusive. Lorne C. Orr, who has in the past successfully directed so many of the famed winter carnivals, will stage the event with the same state of officers who directed last winter's event to success. A project is afoot to follow the carnival with a series of sports weekends each one being devoted entirely to one special brand of winter activity.

Following Monday night's meeting everything seemed to be in order for peace and harmony, but remarks made by some of the B.C.F.A. officials at that meeting as to when they would send in their resignations, led the Coast League delegates to cast doubt on the sincerity of the B.C.F.A. executive's assurance that they would resign. So much so that Coast League and clubs have sent in their resignations dependent on all other parties resigning.

Lynn and Murray Patrick Among Those Nominated For High Athletic Award

David Komonen Backed By Ontario and Quebec; Jimmy Ball Manitoba's Choice
Winnipeg, Nov. 9.—Five nominations for the Norton H. Crowe Trophy have been submitted formally to the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada for consideration at its annual meeting here November 16, 17 and 18.

Announcing submission of a motion for the secretary, John Leslie, Edmonton, to amend the by-law covering award of the trophy, James I. Morikin, a director of the A.A.U. of C. yesterday issued the names of the five athletes nominated.

David Komonen, Montreal Athletic Club, Toronto, holder of marathon titles and Canada's leading long-distance runner, has been nominated by the Ontario branch, while George Walsh, who took the Dominion discus and shot put title to his home club at Port Arthur, Ont., has been nominated by the Thunder Bay branch. Quebec also endorsed Komonen. James A. "Jimmie" Ball, Winnipeg, star of the 1928 Olympic Games at Amsterdam and brilliant 440-yard man, has been named by the Manitoba branch. Lynn and Murray Patrick, stellar brothers of the Victoria Blue Ribbons basketball team, have been suggested by the British Columbia branch. MAY MAKE WOMEN ELIGIBLE

The amended by-law governing the award of the trophy, in memorial to Norton H. Crowe, for nineteen years secretary of the union, provides that men and women athletes both shall be eligible. The award shall be made "for outstanding athletic performance and sportsmanship," and the trophy shall be awarded to athletes competing in sports governed and controlled by the A.A.U. of C.

SAANICH THISTLES TO MEET ESQUIMALT IN MILTON CUP

Esquimalt will meet Saanich Thistles in the opening round of the Milton Cup knockout series for Pacific Coast Football League teams, according to the draw announced to-day. The match will be staged at the Athletic Park on December 2, with T. Robb as referee. In the second round Victoria City will meet Victoria West with G. Davies as referee, and the winner of the first round will oppose the Victoria West second division club, with D. Swan in charge.

Offered to Ottawa

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—Paul Runge, left wing of the Philadelphia Arrows in the Canadian-American Hockey League may come to the Ottawa Senators in the National League. T. F. Ahearn, principal owner of the Senators yesterday received a wire from Herb Gardner, manager of the Arrows offering Runge in exchange for two Senators. The telegram arrived after the Ottawa team headed by George Boucher, coach, left for Syracuse. A reply will be sent as soon as Boucher returns to the capital.

Paul Runge, along with his brother, Herman, played with the Victoria Cubs in the Pacific Coast Hockey League.

Welch and Newton Trophy Candidates
Montreal, Nov. 9.—Ruek Welch, knap-back, are Montreal football candidates for the Jeff Russell Memorial Trophy. Welch, now playing his fourth year with the club, is captain of M.F.C. and leading scorer of the union. Newton, formerly of Syracuse University, is the first American member of the Montreal club to be nominated for the honor.

EDMONTON ESKS GET TY ARBOUR

Famous Left Winger Will Perform With Prairie Club in Northwestern Ice Loop

Edmonton, Nov. 9.—Hockey fans steers a former Edmonton star, Ty Arbour, back to the scenes of some of his greatest triumphs this winter.

Preparing for opening of the Northwestern League campaign next week, Manager "Duke" Keats of Edmonton Eskimos, to-day said Arbour would be en route to this city shortly from his Waukegan, Ont., home to join Eskimos.

Arbour was a member of one of the greatest forward line combinations that ever played on a western rink. He was left-winger of the famous scoring trio, Keats-Gagne-Arbour, that carried Eskimos to a Western Canada League title and on a Stanley Cup playoff with the old Chicago Black Hawks for a couple of years and last season played in the International League.

N.H.L. Moguls Hope For "New Deal" With Opening of Season

Fine Crop of Rookies, Rule Changes and New Refereeing System Features

LIFT CURTAIN THIS EVENING

Six of Eight Clubs Get Into Action; Boston Bruins Will Engage Toronto

Toronto, Nov. 9.—Fortified by a fine crop of rookies, a new managing-director, a new system of officiating and several changes in the rules, the National Hockey League swings into its seventeenth season of assault and battery on skates to-night, hopeful of a "new deal" at the turnstiles. The opening engagements are:

Detroit at Montreal Canadiens.
Boston at Toronto.
New York Americans at Chicago.

Saturday night the other three teams of the nine-club circuit, including the Stanley Cup holders, the New York Rangers, swing into action as follows: Canadiens at Ottawa.
Montreal Maroons at Boston.
Rangers at Toronto.

CLASS OF LEAGUE
The New York Rangers and the Toronto Maple Leafs, cup finalists last year, again are counted the class of the league by most of the experts, with the Boston and Detroit clubs figured as the main contenders in the league. The Canadiens and Maroons are the leading rivals of Toronto in the Canadian division.

There has not been as much open rumormongering about salary cuts this year as last, but one of the most colorful players of the league, Eddie Shore, Boston, has still failed to accept the lowered salary proffered. Conney Weidman, Ottawa, the other prominent hold-out, agreed to terms yesterday.

Two straight years of declining revenues have brought decreases right down the line from the peak salaries of 1929-30, and it is rumored many star players were signed this year on a bonus plan, their salary to depend on whether they get in the play-offs and the "take" at the gate.

NEW REFEREEING SYSTEM
A change in the method of officiating gives two referees equal power, each having charge of one-half of the rink, while a third referee, who is not the referee, defines defensive areas, marked by dots on the ice in front of each goal, which no attacking player can enter ahead of the man with the puck. Another rule forbids an attacking player, unless he is carrying the puck, approaching closer than fifty-seven inches of the goal mouth.

Schmeling Will Meet Baer Again

New York, Nov. 9.—Joe Jacobs, manager of the former heavyweight boxing champion, Max Baer, announced yesterday from Germany with an announcement a return bout between Schmeling and Max Baer was planned for February 23 in San Francisco with Jack Dempsey at promoter.

Baer knocked out Schmeling in the tenth round of their first meeting in New York last summer.

Shore Works Out With Edmonton

Edmonton, Nov. 9.—Eddie Shore, defence star of Boston Bruins, suspended by President Frank Calder of the National Hockey League, has been practicing with the Edmonton Eskimos of the Northwestern Professional League. Apparently in perfect condition and skating hard, Shore gave a fine display at Wednesday's workout. Another hold-out working with the Eskimos nightly is Paul Runge of Philadelphia Arrows. Both men said yesterday evening they had received no further word from the east. Neither seemed to be greatly perturbed.

EQUIPOISE IS BEING STUDIED

Special X-Ray Pictures Taken of Injured Foot to Determine Ailment

X-ray pictures of the foot that resulted in the premature retirement of Equipoise, one of the greatest race horses of all times, were made at Belmont Park recently by General Electric technicians and are now being studied by veterinarians and experts of the General Electric X-Ray Company in Chicago in hopes of determining the cause of the puzzling ailment which resulted in the horse going lame this summer.

It was thought a cracked hoof was the cause of the lameness when trainer Thomas Healey announced about a month ago that Equipoise would not run again unless the match race, then being considered against the famous Australian horse, Winoka, materialized. This race has since been called off and Equipoise was removed from Belmont to the Whitney farm in Kentucky for a winter's rest.

WILL COME BACK
Equipoise, with winnings of more than $200,000 for its owner, C. V. Whitney, is but $50,000 short of becoming the greatest winner of all times. It is planned to bring him back to the track next season, if the lameness can be corrected, in hopes that he can still capture this high honor.

Trainer Healey now feels that perhaps the cracked hoof is not the cause of the trouble with Equipoise's foot. This crack has been out and new tissue has grown in and still the horse suffers a hard workout will run lame. After a work out the horse will favor the heel of his front right foot, walking on his toe, as though something caused considerable pain when he stepped flat on the ground. Just why Mr. Healey has been unable to determine and it is hoped the x-ray may show the cause.

USE NEW MACHINE

After a study by the General Electric X-ray department, it was decided to send to Dr. H. C. Crawford, veterinarian of the Whitney stable. A dozen or more pictures were taken of the injured foot, and the pictures were taken by a new type portable high voltage x-ray machine developed by the General Electric X-Ray Company. This machine is particularly adapted to making x-rays of animals or going places where the machine must be moved to the patient. So simple and quiet is its operation that Equipoise was not from his stall or aware that anything unusual was taking place when the pictures were made. The machine, the first of its kind, was shipped from Chicago, especially for the making of these x-rays.

ACE HUDKINS IS ARRESTED

Former "Nebraska Wildcat" and Companion Jailed in San Pedro After Brawl

San Pedro, Cal., Nov. 8.—Ace Hudkins, former "Nebraska Wildcat" of the pugilistic world, and a companion, David Chalmers, twenty-five-year-old salesman, were jailed yesterday by police on suspicion of robbery, but authorities said the charge probably would be changed to assault and battery.

The former prizefighter and Chalmers were arrested on complaint of George Kerchoff, who told authorities Hudkins and Chalmers came to his home to see Mrs. Olive Hudkins, his stepdaughter, and Chalmers' divorced wife.

KNOCKS OUT PAIR
A quarrel followed, authorities said, and Hudkins drew a revolver. Kerchoff took it away from him and knocked out both Hudkins and Chalmers. Police said the revolver was unloaded. Authorities said they had received a report from a gasoline station attendant at the station, ordered gasoline and in lieu of payment showed the attendant the butt end of a revolver. Hudkins recently left a hospital here after having been shot in what police described as a "speakeasy brawl."

Blue Ribbons Win Over Slingers To Remain Undeclared

Mack Not Anxious To Let Stars Go

Philadelphia, Nov. 9.—Take it from Eddie Collins, general manager of Boston Red Sox, Connie Mack is not at all anxious to let any of his Philadelphia Athletics stars go, either by trade or sale.

Leaving Mack's office yesterday, Collins indicated reported deals involving Lefty Grove, Nick Cohn, Max Bishop and others would probably get no further than the "being-talked-about" stage.

MINOR LEAGUE OPENS SEASON

Four of Six Clubs in International Hockey League Engaged This Evening

Considerable New Material Will Make Debut: London Tees Appear Strong

Windsor, Nov. 9.—Apparently working on the presumption new faces create interest, President Charles S. King's International Hockey League, which inaugurates the 1933-34 season to-night will present plenty of new talent for inspection this year. Four of the six clubs participate in opening games, Cleveland visiting London and Detroit at home to Windsor.

A greater array of newcomers than in any year since the league was formed some eight years ago will make their debut this season. All but two of the clubs are in the process of rebuilding.

Buffalo Bisons, champions for the last two years, are lacking half-a-dozen of last year's players. Coach Frank Nighbor's task to date has been to fill the gaps left by the departure of Lederman, Al Murray, Lloyd Gross, Lorne Carr and Sammy Godin.

As a nucleus of this year's Windsor Bulldogs outfit, Coach Stan Brown has only some four or five 1932 performers. Andy Bellemore, Whitley Fields and Russell Billico will be back.

CLEVELAND HIT HARD

Hardest hit of all is "Hap" Holmes of Cleveland. For a while it was thought the Indians would not operate, but the persevering Holmes obtained the necessary financial backing. The durable Reg. Noble will make the Indian defence one of the sturdiest in the league.

New Tecumseh are in the best position. Manager Clem Loughlin has Herbie Stuart in goal, Harold Hicks, Gordon Fraser and Toots Holway back for defence duty and Eric Pettigrew, Tommy Gillis and Farrand Gregg on the forward line.

Detroit Olympics loom up as strong contenders for the title.

SUNDAY BALL IS APPROVED

Pittsburgh and Philadelphia Major Clubs Get Break By Latest Action

Philadelphia, Nov. 9.—Pennsylvania sport devotees were jubilant yesterday when they'll have Sunday baseball.

The long, intensive fight to modify the state's 130-year-old blue laws came to a successful end in Tuesday's referendum, and the gates of the big league parks in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh will be thrown open to Sabbath crowds when the 1934 pennant races get under way.

Minor league towns, likewise, approved Sunday sport.

The ancient Sunday laws, which at one time prohibited the operation of street cars and trains, the shovelling of snow, and even proposal of marriage on the Sabbath, have been under fire of baseball followers for years, but the drive, which recently resulted in the new referendum law, developed after the courts declared in 1915 that baseball is a "diversion" and therefore forbidden.

The fight came to a climax in the session of the Legislature which began the first of the year.

A bill was proposed, permitting communities to decide for themselves whether to license baseball and football on Sunday afternoons.

Governor Gifford Pinchot, opposed for a time to liberalization of the Sabbath, kept his hands off the fight, but civic organizations and church leaders from all over the state filled the legislative halls, protesting against modification of the Sunday law.

Canadian Cage Champions Retain League Record With 48 to 18 Victory

STANDARDS WIN WOMEN'S CLASH

Score Fine Win Over Dad's Cookies; Colonist Capture Stiff Checking Tilt

Led by Art Chapman, elongated centre star who collected twenty-one points, the Blue Ribbon senior men's basketball squad added another victory to its string at the expense of Slingers, 46 to 18, in the feature tussle at the Victoria High School yesterday evening.

In the other two games the Colonist defeated New Method Laundry, 22 to 14, in a men's senior B game, while Dad's Cookies went down to defeat at the hands of the Standards, 21 to 16.

The Ribbons, who have not been beaten this year in league competition, took a big lead at the start and at no time were they pressed. Art and Chuck Chapman scored baskets from all angles, while Martin, Ross and Robertson added the odd one. In the second half the Canadian champions started to whip the ball from man to man with great precision and passed up many additional opportunities to score.

Claude Sluget and Atkinson were the only Slinger players to make a passing showing, with the former scoring the largest individual total for his side, seven points.

TAKE EARLY LEAD

By taking a 12 to 8 lead in the first half and then holding their margin the Standards Steam Laundry women's quintet gave a nice display in downing the Cookies. Hilda Scott and Buddy Elston were the scoring stars of the winning side, the former collecting seven points and the latter ten. The remainder of the Laundry team played great ball and appear to be a serious threat for divisional honors. The Cookies played well but were weak in shooting.

In a low scoring, hard checking encounter the Colonist retained its undefeated record by downing the New Method Laundry, 22 to 14, in a men's senior B game. The Colonist played well but were weak in shooting.

The teams and individual scores follow:

Blue Ribbons—Craig (1), Martin (4), Robertson (3), A. Chapman (21), Peden, C. Chapman (11), J. Ross (4), Sluget—Claude Sluget (7), Clarence Sluget (1), Mitchell, Butler, Atkinson (4), G. Landon (2), P. Turgoose (2), Sluget, M. Landon.

SPLIT VOTE ON HORSE RACING

Eleven New Jersey Counties in Favor of Sport; Camden Is Opposed

Newark, N.J., Nov. 9.—Eleven New Jersey counties to-day stood in favor of a horse racing measure, five were determined not to have it, and six still were to complete their tabulations on Tuesday's referendum.

Among the counties opposed is Camden, from where William J. Thompson, racing enthusiast sent his starter, Thomas J. Flynn, to the legislature, Flynn, becoming speaker of the assembly in 1929. In the election that fall, however, the people, urged on by the league against horse racing, ousted the so-called "jockey legislature," and in 1927, after a long history of corruption, horse race gambling passed from the state.

The referendum voted on Tuesday has the innocuous title of "an act concerning corporations for raising and breeding and improving the breed of horses." But the opposition finds in the law a section permitting race park operators to police their own grounds, a loophole through which a bet may be passed to a bookmaker.

The Rev. Dr. Wm. H. Foulkes of the Old First Church, sees "an object lesson of moral principles, for every one knows horses are raised for gambling purposes."

Assemblyman Jos. Allen and Anthony Siracusa, who submitted the resolutions on the question, point to Maryland's collection of $650,000 in fees from the tracks last year.

Substantial Gains
In Wheat Prices On Improved Exports

Winnipeg, Nov. 9.—Aided by the trend in sterling exchange, export interest entered Winnipeg grain market for substantial quantities of Canadian wheat to-day. Grain values responded to improved demand by scoring gains of 2½ to 1½ cents.

A sharp advance in Chicago values aided the advance which boosted the distant future into the 70's. Movement of Canadian wheat for shipment abroad was estimated at 1,000,000 bushels, by far the largest volume worked this week.

Closing quotations showed the November future at 66½; December 65½; May 64½ and July 70½ cents. Final figures were close to the day's top levels.

Sharp falling off in Russian and Argentine shipments during the past week indicated Canada has not been suffering alone from lack of export demand and was construed by the trade as bullish.

Export sales of Canadian wheat yesterday and to-day were estimated to run close to 2,000,000 bushels. Canadian grain prices reflected the better feeling in futures.

PRICES GO SKYWARD

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Soaring of gold prices, with sterling exchange, at the highest point since 1914, carried wheat swiftly skyward to-day. Wheat was up more than four cents compared with yesterday. Trade was on a large scale.

Wheat closed buoyant, 3½ to 4 cents above yesterday's finish; corn 1½ to 2½ up; oats 1½ to 1¾ advanced; and provisions at a rise of 2 cents to 2½ cents.

Finds Men And Women Differ In Judgments

A Vast Chasm Separates Man's and Woman's Idea of a Good Husband—To the Man, It Is Spouse Who Brings Home the Bacon; to the Woman, the One Who Is Loving, Tender and Sympathetic

WHAT is a good husband? There is no subject upon which men and women differ more radically than upon what each considers the ideal qualities that a husband should possess. That's the reason there are so many bewildered husbands and disappointed and disgruntled wives.

A man thinks he is a good husband when he provides for his wife, and, if he throws in a few automobiles and diamond sunbursts and things, he swells out his chest with self-righteousness, and thinks she should be burning joss sticks to Lady Luck for having bestowed him upon her.

He may be cold as an electric refrigerator. He may be as growly and irritable as a sore-headed bear. He may be a petty tyrant who keeps his wife in trembling fear of him. He may be so stingy that she has to cork-screw every penny out of him, but as long as he feeds and clothes her and keeps a roof over her head he considers that he is a good husband.

Other men consider they are good husbands because they are moral. They don't smoke. They don't drink. They don't philander. They hire homely and efficient, middle-aged spinsters for stenographers instead of beautiful blonde flappers. They punch the home time-clock exactly on the dot every evening. They never step out to any place of amusement after dinner and they are sure that their wives must regard them as the answer to their prayers for model husbands.

True, they treat their wives as if they were mere household conveniences, like vacuum cleaners or self-regulating cook stoves, instead of lady loves. They have never done anything since their wedding days to make their wives happy or to give them pleasure, and when their wives try to be affectionate and chum with them they are just as responsive as a stone image would be. Still, and for all that, they never have a doubt that they would take the blue-ribbon prize in any good-husband show.

One of the things that men grow most sarcastic about is the unreasonable attitude that women take toward their husbands. They can't understand why so often a woman is a perfectly reconciled widow when she loses a husband who has been a model of all the virtues and a leading church member and an example in the community, while another woman will break her heart over the loss of some poor, weak, faltering husband who drank too much and whom she had to take in boards to support.

But any woman could tell them that the explanation lies in the different standards that men and women have as to what constitutes a good husband, and that very often the best men are the meanest husbands, while frequently an indifferent man is a good husband.

A woman's idea of a good husband includes, of course, his being a reputable citizen, and a man able to support his family in decent comfort, for all of that is part of his being a real man with strength and intelligence and energy and force. But wives are not overcome with gratitude to their husbands for providing them with bread and butter and raiment. They consider that they earn their own board and keep by the sweat of their brows and the labor of their hands in making their husbands' homes and rearing their children. Neither is a pearl necklace a satisfactory substitute for everything else in life to a woman, though plenty of husbands seem to think it is.

A woman's idea of a good husband, then, is the man who possesses the common, or garden, variety of domestic virtues and, in addition, remains a lover. A man who doesn't expect his wife to be a mind reader who will know that he still loves her, although he hasn't mentioned the fact for forty years, and never notices her looks or what she has on any more than if he were blind.

No, the man who comes up to a woman's requirements of a good husband is one who shows his wife in every way that she grows dearer to him all the time; who is always doing little things to make her happy, even if it no more than bringing her a five-cent bag of peanuts; who pays her compliments and remembers anniversaries and knows her taste and her size in gloves and stockings, and who generally makes her feel that she is the most important thing in life to him.

And a woman's idea of a good husband is the man who understands her and sympathizes with her, and who knows why she cries when she is sad, and why she goes on a shopping orgy when she is sad, and who takes the trouble to manage her in a way that leaves her all purry and happy instead of irritated and mad.

If a man will only be tender and kind and loving to his wife and tell her that she gets better-looking every day, and that she is the only woman in the world for him, he may beat her and starve her and she will gladly work her fingers to the bones for him, and think he is the best husband in the world.

THE CATACOMBS OF ROME

Several methods of burying the dead were used by people of ancient times. Mummies, the powerful kings of Egypt were hidden in tombs of pyramidal shape. In Petra, as we have seen, the dead were placed in tombs cut in the rocky sides of a valley, and similar tombs were used elsewhere.

rock. Some of the tunnels were between ten and fifteen feet high. In later years tunnels were made at lower levels.

The extent of the Catacombs of Rome is almost beyond belief. They have not been fully explored, but it has been estimated that if placed end to end they would make a tunnel at least 350 miles in length. Alongside the passages more than 2,000,000 persons were buried. Some estimate the total length of the Catacombs at 700 miles, and the number of burials as high as 7,000,000.

The Catacombs also served as places where Christians gathered to practice their faith, during the reigns of emperors who mistreated them. There were larger assemblies than the passages I have described.

Many objects have been found buried in the graves of the Catacombs of Rome. These include mirrors, combs, ear-rings, necklaces and money-jars; and they do much to help us picture the ways of life in Rome during the times the early Christians lived.

(For history section of your scrap-book.)

One of the passageways in the catacombs.

In Palestine the Jews preferred underground burial; and the custom of placing the dead under ground was followed by members of the Christian faith.

Of all cemeteries of the earth, the most famous are the Catacombs of Rome. These are long tunnels in the earth. Most of them were cut between the years 200 and 400, but some date back to within thirty years after the crucifixion of Christ. At the sides of the tunnels were spaces for the remains of Christians.

It would be a mistake to suppose that the early Christians of Rome were at all times in fear of the rulers. The fact is that most emperors let them follow their faith with little or no harm being done to them. They were not allowed to bury their dead inside Rome; but they were able to cut the Catacombs outside the walls of the city.

Some of the openings which lead into the Catacombs are next to the Appian Way, one of the most widely-travelled of ancient roads.

Holes were dug to a depth of thirty or forty feet, and stairways were placed in the holes. Then tunnels were cut in different directions, through soft

Berlin Explains Bills Remark to Russians

Associated Press

Berlin, Nov. 9.—The Russo-German conflict arising from the testimony in the Reichstag trial regarding payment of Russian debts ended yesterday. Ambassador Leo Chichikov called on Foreign Minister von Neurath and later it was announced the controversy had ended.

It started when Hermann Wilhelm Goerring, Prussian Premier, declared, at the fire trial, that more German workers would be able to live because of Russia's orders "if Russia paid her bills."
